Ex-Premier Given Bank Chief Post

Bulganin Chosen
By Khrushchev At
Supreme Session

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev today appointed former Premier Nikolai Bulganin head of the Soviet State Bank and announced most of Bulganin's old Cabinet members and key executives had been retained.

These included Anastas Mikoyan as first deputy premier.

Gen. Ivan Serov was renamed to his old post as chairman of State Security, and Andrei Gromyko reappointed foreign minister.

The supreme Soviet approved these nominations unanimously.

Held Job Many Years Ago
Bulganin's new job is one he held many years ago. When Khrushchev replaced him as premier last Thursday there was much speculation Bulganin would be given the more important position of a deputy premier.

Khrushchev appointed as first deputy premier Mikoyan and F. R. Kozlov, and four additional deputy premiers, Alexei N. Kosygin, Dmitri F. Ustinov, and Josef Kuzmin from the old Bulganin Cabinet; and former economic plan member Alexander Zasyadko.

Zasyadko was made minister of the coal industry in the Cabinet of Georgi Malenkov in March, 1953, and was relieved of the job after Malenkov resigned as premier.

Khrushchev announced no changes in the heads of the 19 government ministries.

The appointment of Kozlov as a first deputy premier is new proof that the Leningrad Communist party leader is on the way up. Kozlov won a seat in the 15-member Communist party Presidium after last June's shakeup, and subsequently was appointed premier of the Russian Federation.

Khrushchev disposed of the appointment of his new government in a matter of three or four minutes, racing through the list of names without time for applause between them.

Gromyko Follows Him
There was loud and long applause as he finished.

As he stepped down Gromyko arose immediately to speak on the cessation of hydrogen and atomic tests.

Speaking deliberately, he repeated the long history of hydrogen and atomic development and warned of the growing dangers as more and more nations acquired these weapons.

Earlier in his address, Khrushchev declared the Soviet people and Parliament approved his plan to distribute the machinery of tractor stations to collective farms.

Turncoat Yank Hints More To Quit Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—The return of another American turncoat from Communist China aroused speculation today that more soon would follow.

Lance Sullivan said after crossing the border that he wanted to be the first of the three Negro turncoats to go home.

The 27-year-old former sergeant was dishonorably discharged from the U.S. Army with 20 other Americans who refused repatriation from Communist capture in Korea, Sullivan, of Omaha, Neb., and Santa Barbara, Calif., has been described as the bitterest of the lot.

Dag Begins Talks

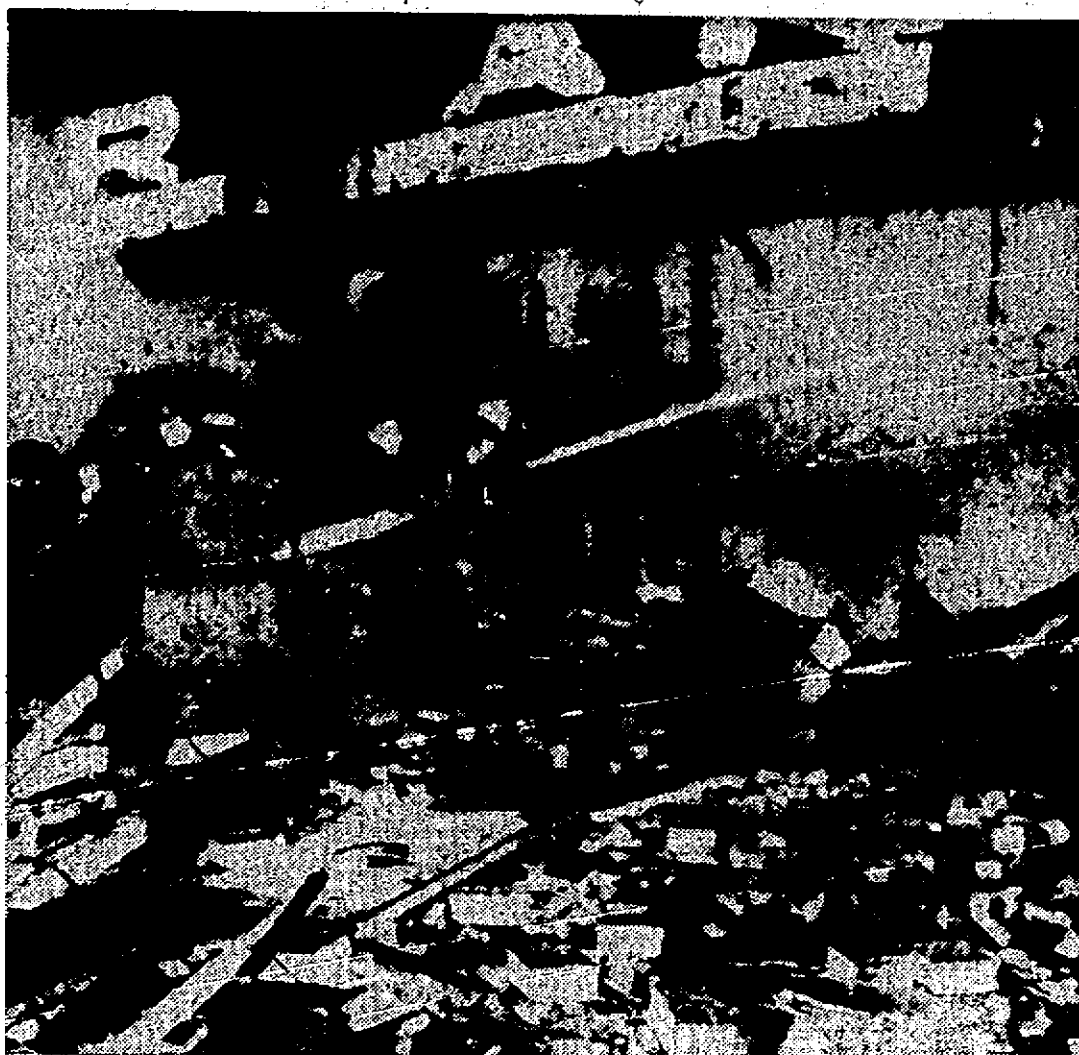

LONDON (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today began a round of confidential talks with British officials keyed to his praise of whether the Soviets really want a summit conference and disarmament.

Queen Reported 'Scolding' Meg For Seeing Townsend

LONDON (AP)—Rumors flew today that Queen Elizabeth gave yesterday's two-hour meeting between Princess Margaret a royal dressing down for seeing Peter Townsend last week. But as usual with rumored royal rows, nobody who really knows is talking.

All that is known publicly about yesterday's two-hour meeting between the royal sisters is this: Looking pale and worried, Margaret returned from a weekend visit to Germany after gaily dancing all night with officers of a British regiment of which she is colonel in chief.

A car was driven up to the plane ramp at the London airport to avoid news men. Margaret was

Civil Rights Funds Battle Set In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new civil rights fight, over funds for a six-member investigating commission, shaped up today as House members pushed toward a 10-day Easter recess.

Also on the day's doubled-up calendar was a bill to speed up government purchase of up to 840 million dollars in supplies as an antirecession move.

House leaders hoped to get both proposals behind them by nightfall to make way for consideration tomorrow of a $3,216,988,539 Agriculture Department appropriation bill.

The Easter vacation starts at the end of Thursday's session and ends April 14.

The civil rights fight is over an Appropriations Committee recommendation for $750,000 to finance for the year starting July 1 the commission created by the 1957 civil rights law.

A 17-17 tie vote in committee last Friday blocked an attempt to cut the allotment to $600,000 before the bill reached the House.

Southern Democrats are against providing any money for the commission, whose creation they tried to prevent, but they appeared to be championing a lost cause.

The government purchasing speedup is in the form of a measure to allow civilian government agencies to spend during the next 90 days up to $840,000,000 to buy equipment, supplies and material they originally intended to purchase after July 1.

Arab-Israeli Troops Clash

JERUSALEM (AP)—The United Arab Republic today accused Israel of new aggression after a 75-minute tank-mortar battle on the Israeli-Syrian frontier near the Lake Huleh reclamation project. The Israelis issued countercharges.

There have been repeated clashes in the area. The Arabs oppose any work on the reclamation project since it signifies the Israelis are solidifying their hold in the sector claimed by Syria.

An Arab army spokesman in Damascus warned that "it is high time for Israel to realize that the U.A.R. army (of Egypt and Syria) will defend the lives of U.A.R. citizens and their lands against any aggression aimed at murder and usurpation."

Three Killed In Explosion At Gulf City

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—A chemical plant explosion killed three men yesterday in this Gulf Coast port, where 512 died 11 years ago next month in a series of ship blasts.

This time a two-story brick and steel building blew up at the Union Carbide Chemicals Co. Its force was felt 12 miles away in Galveston.

Those killed were S. V. Crider, 39, La Marque, Tex., father of five children; R. E. Stoner, 35, Texas City; and H. F. Smith, 37, Houston.

They were working with 150 men whose shift ended just 22 minutes after the 7:08 a. m. explosion. None of the others were injured.

State police estimated damage at about a million dollars.

T. A. Wilker, plant superintendent, said the cause of the blast had not been determined. It occurred in a unit handling liquid nitrogen, liquid oxygen, acetylene and a newly developed gas—all "highly volatile materials," Wilker said.

Barbara Burns Again Held For Dope Violation

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The 20-year-old daughter of Bob Burns, the late bawdy-playing comedian, was in trouble with U.S. authorities today for alleged failure to register as a narcotic addict.

Barbara Ann Burns was booked as a federal prisoner at city jail late yesterday on suspicion of violating the federal law requiring addicts to register as such on crossing the U.S. borders.

She was arrested when she returned from a Sunday visit to Tijuana, just across the border in Mexico.

Conservatives Seen Winning Canada Ballot

TORONTO (AP)—Canadians went to the polls today for their second national election in nine months, and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative party was generally picked to remain in power with the clear-cut majority it missed last June.

Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson waged a strenuous campaign to regain the control of the House of Commons his party held for 22 years—until the Conservatives squeaked ahead last year. But political experts said there was little chance the Liberals could overcome the odds they faced.

Pearson, resting in Ottawa after seven strenuous weeks of speechmaking, insisted that the Liberals were going to win.

In Canada, as in Britain, voters do not ballot directly for a prime minister but only for a member of Commons from their own district. The Prime Minister is the head of the party which wins a majority—or most of the 265 seats in Parliament's lower house.

The Conservatives last June won 113 seats, more than any other party but 20 short of a majority. The Liberals had 106 seats, minor party 45.

Diefenbaker after nine months of minority rule called the election in hopes of winning a clear majority, to permit his party to carry out its program. A victory probably would mean at least four or five years in power under normal circumstances.

ROK Elections Slated For May

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee's government today announced elections will be held May 2 for a new National Assembly.

Candidates have until April 10 to file for the 233 seats, an increase of 30 over the present lower house because of population increases.

In the outgoing Assembly Rhee's Liberal party has 131 seats and the opposition Democrats 46. A hot fight is expected but the outcome will not affect Rhee directly. His term runs until 1960.

Satellite Standing: Hagen Says U. S. Even With Russians In Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. John P. Hagen, head of the Navy's Project Vanguard, says he believes the American and Soviet satellite programs "are going along pretty much even-Stephen at the present rate."

Dr. Richard W. Porter, another space scientist, said the United States may be ahead of the Soviet Union in one phase of satellite technology—the ability to compress scientific instruments into small vehicles.

Hagen spoke in an interview filmed for use in New York state. Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, Air Force commander of the missile test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., said that within 10 years this country probably could send a man to the moon and get him back.

Porter, chairman of the U.S. earth satellite panel for the International Geophysical Year, said it might take 8 to 12 months for the

Eisenhower Vetoes Farm Price Freeze

Spurns Pleas To Sign Bill On Supports

President Asserts Farm Economy Now "In Need Of Thaw"

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed the farm price support freeze bill, calling it "ill advised from the standpoint both of the nation and of our farm families."

In a veto message to Congress, the President said:

"With regard to government controls, what the farm economy needs is a thaw rather than a freeze."

Asks 5-Point Program

Eisenhower's election year action on the measure came despite appeals from a good many Republicans in Congress that he sign the controversial bill.

In announcing his veto, Eisenhower said a five-point program should be undertaken to deal with farm problems. Some sections of that program, embodied in the President's agriculture message to Congress in January, call for legislation.

"Ample authority already exists for others," Eisenhower said.

It takes a two-thirds majority of members voting in both the Senate and the House to override a presidential veto.

The measure passed both the House and Senate by sizable majorities, but the margins were far short of the two-thirds required to override.

Eisenhower said he had given earnest consideration to the arguments for and against the bill, but that it is his judgment that to approve the measure "would be ill advised, from the standpoint of both the nation and our farm families as well."

The bill freezes farm price supports at no less than 1957 levels for one year.

Points To Consequences
The President said approval of the bill would have such consequences as these:

"1. It would pile up more farm products in government warehouses.

"2. It would restrict the growth of markets.

"3. It would postpone the day when agriculture can be released from the straitjacket of controls.

"4. It would bypass the problems of the small operator who produces so little for sale that price supports have scant meaning.

"5. It would hold up the needed transition to modern parity and (Continued on Page 2; Col. 6)

Rain General In East Area

By The Associated Press
It was more wet weather for sections of the East and the Far West today but it was fairly mild and pleasant in most of the mid-continent.

Precipitation was general during the night across the Atlantic Coast states from New York state southward through South Carolina, with rain in scattered sections of Georgia and Florida.

Although rain fell in most areas, snow was reported in some mountain areas of New York, the Virginia and Pennsylvania. Heaviest rainfall during the night was at Charleston, S.C., which was drenched with about 1½ inches and making a 24-hour total of 2.28 inches.

U. S. Is Declared 'Hottest Place' In Radioactivity

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States is "the hottest place in the world" in terms of radioactivity in the atmosphere, says Dr. Willard F. Libby of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

"A major fraction" of the fallout in the United States, according to Libby, is of Soviet origin. Libby, science member of the AEC, was one of several scientists on the CBS-TV program See It Now.

He contended in a filmed interview that continuation of nuclear weapons tests is "a risk that we can and should tolerate."

Among others on the program Dr. Kenjiro Kimura, one of the discoverers of uranium-237, said the majority of Japanese scientists "believe that if hydrogen and atomic test explosions continue at the present rate that the danger point to the human race will be reached in 15 to 20 years."

U. S. Claims Draw Blast In Moscow

Truman Also Hit By Soviet Leader For Bombing Japs

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it is halting tests of all forms of thermonuclear weapons.

The announcement was made by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko before a joint session of the Supreme Soviet.

There was tremendous applause as he announced this decision of Premier Khrushchev's new Cabinet.

When the unilateral decision becomes effective—once it is approved by the Supreme Soviet—and how long it would remain in effect was not immediately clear.

Seen Applied At Once

It was the impression of those who heard Gromyko that the ban would be applied at once.

Gromyko said the Soviet Union hoped that the United States and Britain would join in the suspension of tests.

Gromyko said the Soviet Union considers itself free to end the suspension if the other powers did not join in. He did not indicate how long the Soviet Union would wait.

"We realize that ending of tests does not avert the danger of war," Gromyko told the 1,378 deputies. "When one side tests a series of bombs, the other side tries to catch up."

The foreign minister ridiculed U. S. claims to having produced clean bombs relatively free of radioactive fallout.

"They write about them touchingly but all this is simply to divert people from the main problem—a choice between peace and an atomic war," he said.

"They do the same as did former President Truman, trying to justify the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They are trying to make it seem that atom bombs are for the good of the people. But this conception is alien to the interests of peace and mankind."

"The opponents of banning tests fear that this will bring an end to the production of nuclear weapons. This is the strong point of the test ban. If the test ban turns out to be a cold shower for the hotbeds in NATO, then that alone is a good point."

Khrushchev Reveals Agricultural Policy

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev today asserted the Soviet Parliament and the Soviet people approve his plan to take farm machinery away from central-machine tractor stations and distribute it among the Soviet Union's collective farms.

Khrushchev spoke on his agricultural policy at a joint session of the Supreme Soviet—Parliament.

World's First 'Rocket Derby' Set For July 4

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—The world's first "rocket derby" may be shot off here on or about July 4.

The Fort Wayne section of the American Rocket Society has tentative plans for a derby to be run along the line of model plane meets, with entries classed according to type. All types of miniature missiles, powered with everything from compressed air to the latest liquid and solid fuels, would be fired.

Members would seek to demonstrate proper rocket firing procedure and curb dangerous experiments by amateurs.

Study Shows Non-Smokers Usually Dependable, Quiet

NEW YORK (AP)—A heavy smoker tends to be energetic and independent. A nonsmoker is likely to be stable, dependable and quiet.

This difference in personality is pointed out in a study of Harvard men, first as students from 1938 to 1942 and later, through questionnaires, in 1953.

Results of the study were published in the February issue of the Archives of Internal Medicine. The author is Dr. Clark W. Heath, professor of hygiene and director of health services at Tufts University, Medford, Mass.

The five heaviest smokers were compared with five nonsmokers picked at random from the group in personality and physiology.

Airliner Pilot Prevents Crash Over New Jersey

NEW YORK (AP)—A veteran pilot threw his National Airlines plane into a sudden dive yesterday to avert a collision with a twin-engine plane coming directly at him.

The quick action of Capt. Jack Guthrie, 37, was credited with probably saving the lives of 60 persons.

Guthrie told authorities he was approaching Idlewild Airport from Miami with 58 persons aboard when he saw the unidentified plane coming at him.

The veteran of 14 years flying service put the DC6 into a sudden, baggage-jarring steep dive for about 100 feet. Some passengers were thrown out of their seats. Hand luggage fell from the racks. But no panic was reported.

"I saw it just in time to get out of the way," Guthrie said later.

Eleven of the 53 passengers — there were four crewmen in addition to the captain — were treated for shock when the plane landed. None, however, were taken to a hospital. The other plane was assumed to be carrying two persons.

The near collision occurred in the vicinity of Barnegat Inlet, N.J., 60-odd miles from Idlewild. The point is known as the "Coyle Interchange," where two radio waves — aids to navigation — cross.

Officials of the Civil Aeronautics Authority said they planned no investigation. Guthrie said he would file a report with National Airlines, adding: "There was no negligence on the part of the other pilot. It was just one of those things."

Nippon's Budget Wins Approval

TOKYO (AP)—The upper house of the Japanese Parliament approved a government budget equivalent to nearly $3,645,000,000 only hours before the beginning of the 1958 fiscal year April 1.

The vote was 137-84. The lower house approved it March 4 by a vote of 267-143.

Its passage cleared the way for possible dissolution of both houses.

The 1958 total is an increase of nearly half a billion dollars over that for the 1957 fiscal year.

weapon tests. Communist sources predicted he would propose a date to the United States for the ending of tests but would say the Soviet Union would halt them on its own if the United States refused.

Khrushchev rejected all suggestions that poor collective farms should receive machinery free. Instead he offered credit for three to five years.

"The way to help out poor farmers is not by giving them machinery but by reinforcing their manpower and giving them training by experienced farmers," he declared.

Khrushchev, wearing a black suit with two gleaming Order of Lenin on his chest, called for main emphasis on the drive to overtake the United States in agricultural and economic production.

Greater production of corn, he said, was one way toward this goal.

Housing Bill To Affect Vets, NonVets, Lenders

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an ABC on the housing bill, recently passed by Congress, which President Eisenhower is expected to sign into law. It affects veterans, nonveterans and money-lenders.

It's an anticrecit step intended to boost homebuilding with government help. That help will take various forms but briefly these: to make it a little easier to borrow money and a little more profitable to lend it.

Congress hopes it will get 200,000 new homes started in 1958, in addition to those which would be built anyway. It may cost the government $1,850,000,000. Congress voted that much for it.

Just to show how homebuilding has slumped: In 1955 about 1,300,000 new homes were started. This dropped in 1957 to 989,000. New starts in February were the lowest for any February in nine years. At the February rate only 890,000 homes would be started in 1958.

The bill, if it becomes law, will affect mainly the operations of three government agencies dealing in housing: the Federal Housing Administration, the Veterans Administration and the Federal National Mortgage Assn.

Through FHA and VA the government has been insuring or guaranteeing mortgages on homes so that money lenders, like banks, will be encouraged to keep on lending.

FNMA helps out in another way. But first the background on what FHA and VA do now and what the bill would enable them to do: FHA

Now a person getting an FHA-insured loan must make a down payment of at least 3 per cent ($300) on the first $10,000 of the home's value, 15 per cent on the value between $10,000 and $16,000, and 30 per cent on what's over $16,000.

The bill will let the down payment be 3 per cent on the first $13,500, then 15 per cent between $13,500 and $16,000, and 30 per cent on what's over $16,000. The FHA will, as in the past, insure the mortgage in full.

VA The VA guarantees loans to veterans of World War II. This program was supposed to end July 25, 1958. The bill would extend the program until July 25, 1960.

Of the 11,250,000 veterans of World War II, only about 4,800,000 have taken advantage of the VA guarantee in buying a home. Congress hopes that by extending the program two years more veterans will seek VA help.

Besides guaranteeing loans that money lenders made to veterans, the VA also made direct loans to veterans in remote areas where it was hard to borrow money. This program was supposed to end July 25, 1958. It, also, has been extended two years. (Note: The VA program for Korean veterans still has years to go.)

Further — homebuilding by war veterans under the VA program has been drying up because the VA couldn't guarantee loans on mortgages where the interest rate was higher than 4½ per cent. Money lenders were passing up these VA-guaranteed mortgages to put their money into something giving them higher interest.

This bill authorizes the VA to guarantee homebuilding loans with interest up to 4½ per cent.

Finally, there is the third part of the bill, affecting FNMA.

Many a money lender, after putting his money into an FHA or VA supported mortgage, would like to get out of it in order to have cash to put into something he thinks more profitable.

In such a case he could go to FNMA and get his money back — up to a limit of $15,000. But he'd lose a little on the deal, both in service charges and in a slight cut in the price. This program still stands.

But to encourage the building of cheaper homes, the bill lets FNMA buy back the FHA and VA supported mortgages up to a limit of $13,500 at their full value. So on this deal, except for service charges, a money lender figures to lose nothing.

This is how Congress figured the $1,850,000,000 it approved in the bill would be split up: For the new FNMA program — one billion dollars; for direct loans to veterans to be spread over the next two years — 300 millions; for government housing near military bases for essential civilian employees — 25 million; housing for military personnel — 25 million.

In addition, 500 million was provided to purchase FHA or VA mortgage loans of any kind designated by the President when in his opinion he thinks it's necessary for the benefit of the national economy.

Now a person getting an FHA-insured loan must make a down payment of at least 3 per cent ($300) on the first $10,000 of the home's value, 15 per cent on the value between $10,000 and $16,000, and 30 per cent on what's over $16,000.

The bill will let the down payment be 3 per cent on the first $13,500, then 15 per cent between $13,500 and $16,000, and 30 per cent on what's over $16,000. The FHA will, as in the past, insure the mortgage in full.

Ford, Union Talks Start

DETROIT (AP)—Ford and the United Auto Workers go to bat in the second of the new and vital labor contract negotiations in the auto industry's Big Three.

By tomorrow, with Chrysler to start talks, all three of the major firms of the industry will be at the bargaining table with the union over the UAW profit-sharing demand and other proposals.

General Motors talks began last week. They are now recessed until April 8 when the company is expected to come back with answers or proposals of its own.

But to encourage the building of cheaper homes, the bill lets FNMA buy back the FHA and VA supported mortgages up to a limit of $13,500 at their full value. So on this deal, except for service charges, a money lender figures to lose nothing.

This is how Congress figured the $1,850,000,000 it approved in the bill would be split up: For the new FNMA program — one billion dollars; for direct loans to veterans to be spread over the next two years — 300 millions; for government housing near military bases for essential civilian employees — 25 million; housing for military personnel — 25 million.

Ike Grandson Has Party On 10th Birthday

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A birthday party for grandson David, who is 10, precedes President Eisenhower's return to the White House today.

David, son of Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, is the President's only grandson. The chief executive delights in roaming his country estate with David, or helping him brush up on golf or fly casting when occasion permits.

The boy's parents and three sisters also were visiting.

With Eisenhower scheduled to get back to Washington by noon or a bit later, a morning birthday party was arranged for David.

What gifts the President and Mrs. Eisenhower had picked out for their grandson was a private, undisclosed, family matter.

Over the weekend, a White House official said, Eisenhower studied reports from interested government agencies on farm and housing measures and talked three times by long-distance telephone with Secretary of State Dulles about America's position on a summit meeting.

Gavin Leaves Service, Reviews 'Sky Soldiers'

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, 51, an ex-paratrooper and critic of what he charged were holdbacks in the Army's missile program, will retire from the service at formal ceremonies today. General Gavin will review his old outfit, the 82nd Airborne Division, with whom he gained the nickname "Jumping General."

An estimated 200 of his world War II combat paratroopers will be among troops passing in review.

Gavin, then chief of Army research and development, testified before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee that he thought the United States ranks behind the Soviet Union in missiles development. He charged that the Army's missiles program had deliberately been held back.

He then announced his retirement, declaring he believed he could "do the Army more good from without than within."

Gavin was a colonel and was the first man to jump when the 82nd entered World War II combat over Sicily. He also made the division's other three combat jumps, at Salerno, Normandy and Nijmegen, Holland.

Eight Coast Guardsmen To Get Bravery Award

BALTIMORE (AP)—Eight Coast Guardsmen who fought a tanker fire in Baltimore harbor last August will be cited for bravery this week.

The Coast Guard said yesterday that the commander of the Coast Guard's fifth district, Rear Adm. H. C. Moore, will present the awards in a ceremony at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Pier 4.

Commander Richard R. Smith said those to receive Coast Guard commendation medals are:

Boatswain Warrant Howard R. Tarr, Newton Square, Pa.; Boatswain Mate 2c Michael G. Vaeth, Baltimore; Seaman Dominic Emeilio, Washington; Seaman Jesse C. Smith, Miami, Fla.; and Fireman Kenneth G. Hopkins, Baltimore.

Letters of commendation will go to Chief Boatswain's Mate Luke E. Forqueron, Lincoln, Ga.; Chief Engineman Louis H. Daniels, Wanchise, N. C.; and Quartermaster 1c Earl Pierce Jr., Baltimore.

The fire broke out aboard the tanker Lake Charles, which had 500,000 gallons of high-octane gasoline in her tanks. The Chinook, commanded by Boatswain Tarr, towed the Lake Charles to a safe anchorage.

Commander Smith said Chinook crewmen went aboard to fight the fire and continued to do the job "without regard for their own safety" after being knocked from their feet by two explosions.

Lawrence G. Derthick, U. S. commissioner of education, said: "Young people's interest in rocketry and other scientific fields definitely should be encouraged. However, recent serious accidents involving persons experimenting with rockets emphasize the need for strict restrictions."

Aviation education specialist Willis C. Brown said under no circumstances should a youth build a rocket, mix rocket fuel, load a rocket, or attempt to launch it without supervision by an adult rocket expert.

School Board Resigns Over Levy Failure

MOONSVILLE (AP)—The resignation of the Marshall County Board of Education president submitted after failure of a special school levy became effective today.

Dr. William Paul Bradford announced within 48 hours after defeat of the $320,000-a-year levy on March 18 that he would quit the Marshall County board, on which he served nine years.

Supt. Louis R. Potts resigned simultaneously, but said he would continue in office until June 30 or as long after that date as was necessary for a successor to be found.

Bradford said, when he called a special meeting of the board March 20, that he considered the failure of the levy to be an indication of lack of confidence in the school administration.

A new board president will be chosen later.

Adlai Says Leadership Chance Lost In Test Ban Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States missed a chance at world moral leadership by not unilaterally suspending nuclear tests, says Adlai E. Stevenson.

Asked about reports that the Soviets may suspend the tests on their own, Stevenson said such action "would deprive us, I'm sorry to say, of any shred of moral leadership in the matter."

"Unhappily," he added, "it would even deprive us of the hope of taking advantage of the possibility of instituting a reciprocal inspection system."

As the Democratic candidate for president, Stevenson proposed in 1956 that the United States suspend tests unilaterally.

Interviewed on NBC-TV's Look Here, the former Illinois governor said that if the United States had followed his suggestion it would have "vastly increased, I believe,

Senators' Chances

IT HAS BECOME almost axiomatic in presidential politics that governors rather than senators are favored as standard bearers. But the Democrats may find themselves tossing out the axiom in 1960. There are a number of explanations for what has become a fairly common habit in the choosing of nominees. For one thing, governors of nominees. For one thing, governors, especially those in the bigger states, often come to conventions well fortified with strength through control of home state delegations and influence in others. For another, a governor may acquire national stature through vote-getting or administrative performances at home, yet he can avoid making enemies beyond his own borders. A senator, on the other hand, inevitably builds a detailed and sometimes lengthy record on national issues. Many of his votes can put him in disfavor with special groups of voters.

YET WHEN ALL this is said, it is still true that senators are sometimes spurned for reasons not basically linked to this theorizing. In 1952, when Adlai Stevenson was being very reluctant, Senator Barkley, the late Kentuckian, stood strongly placed to gain the Democratic nod. Labor leaders vetoed him on grounds of age. That same year, the late Senator Taft of Ohio gave President Eisenhower a terrific battle for the GOP nomination. He lost, not because he was a senator, but because too many key politicians felt he wasn't a strong vote-getter. For 1960, the Democrats do have one governor, Meyner of New Jersey, in fairly prominent focus. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York is widely rated too old. If Attorney General Edmund (Pat) Brown should win in California this fall, he will wield power at the convention, but like Meyner, he could be handicapped by lack of broad national recognition.

IT'S DIFFERENT in the senatorial ranks. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts is today's leading choice for 1960 among the party's rank and file. Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, whose specialty is defense, has managed somehow to vote and speak in a way that has kept him acceptable to both wings of his party. His name is often heard. Perhaps neither one of these, or any other senator, will in fact be nominee in 1960. But right now their popularity and party acceptability make them better bets than any governor currently on the Democratic horizon.

A LEADER in India asks the women to quit using lipstick and thus save money for national development. With such courageous statesmanship, India's continued progress seems assured.

Unemployed

NO ONE NEEDS to be reminded that unemployment is a grave business. It should neither be minimized nor exaggerated as we develop a continuing picture of the economy in 1958. At the last official accounting, there were some 5,200,000 unemployed in this country. But a good many who today are urging drastic action to cure the current recession talk as if there were none at all when business was at boom levels. They talk as if the necessity is to find 5,200,000 jobs in the immediate future. That of course represents a distortion of the economic facts of life. Even in the times of highest economic pace we have had from two to three million unemployed in the postwar era. That shifting but ever-present figure represents people who for one reason or another are unemployable—the ill, the disabled, the hopelessly indigent; people who are changing from job to job or city to city, and part-time or seasonal workers. Let no one try to argue that these unemployed are a measure of this recession. They would be out of work in any times.

AFTER ALL he has done to soothe the aching hearts of earth's inhabitants, it must be hard for the Man in the Moon to understand why they should be so anxious to use him as a missile target.

False, Empty Slogans Mark GOP Regime

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in the "Statements Series" of columns being written by distinguished persons in government, national affairs, business and the military for Thomas L. Stokes, who is seriously ill.)

CHICAGO — Politics is essentially an educational process, in which people grow to their full stature through participation in great decisions. But people cannot participate in great decisions unless they know the facts.

The first condition of a successful democracy is an informed people. It is an indispensable part of the Presidential responsibility to make sure the people have the facts, no matter how grim and sobering these facts may be.

There are many dramatic contrasts between the Truman and the Eisenhower Administrations—in the sharpness of decision, in the creativity of public policy, in the whole national temper and morale. But perhaps no contrast is more dramatic than the change in the relationship between the government and the people.

THAT CHANGE can be briefly summed up: The Democrats regard the people as responsible partners, able to take their own share in the labor of public policy; the Republicans regard the people as customers, to be amused, beguiled and manipulated.

Very early in this Administration a high official on the President's staff said: "We're going to merchandise the living hell out of the Eisenhower Administration."

And that is precisely what they have done.

These years of Republican rule have been stained by heavy failure in many areas—the excesses of McCarthyism, the disintegration of our alliances, the loss of confidence in us abroad, the decay of our military position, and now the decline in our economic vitality.

BUT PERHAPS nothing has injured us more, or struck so deep at the jugular vein of democracy, as the abuse of the people's right to know. This Administration's record of systematic and unblinking misrepresentation, concealment and half truth has few precedents in our political history. And what makes it more offensive is that it has all been conducted in an atmosphere of such ostentatious piety.

I don't want to recite the familiar litany of foolish words and broken promises—the expenses that were to be cut, the budgets to be reduced, the secret agreements to be denounced, the prices to be stabilized, the schools to be built, the farm surpluses to be eliminated, and the great brains they were going to bring to Washington.

BACK IN THE beginning they fooled the people with talk about "liberating" Eastern Europe, "unleashing" the Formosa Chinese, "rolling back" communism. Well, we have paid a heavy price for these empty, misleading slogans, not only in the satellites, but in Western Europe and in the uncommitted nations.

Then they channeled American thinking into purely military concepts, ridiculed the intellectuals, pandered to complacency, and encouraged the illusion of American omnipotence. They ignored the progress of Soviet education, concealed the weaknesses of the Allied coalition, misrepresented Russian military strength and political penetration.

As our prestige and influence declined, they reported every setback, every disappointment, every defeat as a triumph of statesmanship from which we had emerged more respected and invulnerable than ever.

WORST OF ALL, they never stirred, stimulated or spurred the American people. Instead they lulled America into a dangerous slumber from which we were only recently awakened by the shock of . . . Sputnik.

Remember "Operation Candor"—the big project for telling the truth about atomic weapons? Other Administrations have regarded candor as a prime obligation of government. It is characteristic that an Administration hypnotized and sustained by public relations experts regarded it as an "operation." And it is even more characteristic that, in the end, they dropped the whole idea.

Remember all their rosy reports about the Geneva Conference and the President's great triumph? And what happened? The Soviets pushed confidently forward into the Middle East.

REMEMBER ALL the assurances from the President and the Republican orators during 1956 that they had a patent on peace, that we were trusted, beloved, invulnerable and our prestige was never higher? What happened? Could there have been a more disastrous proof of the loss of confidence and desperation of our oldest, best allies than Suez?

We have been misled from beginning to end about our most vital concerns—about our military strength, about the power of the Communists, about our broad position in the world.

The Democrats will have many powerful issues in the elections this fall. But none, I think, will and should be more fundamental than this—the restoration of truth to government. For if we Americans know the truth, the facts, the problems, there is in us the wisdom and the strength to meet the problem, to be what ever needs to be done, to face danger as part of achieving destiny.

New Labor Laws Are Not Likely, Belief

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sen. John L. McClellan's labor racketeering committee report and legislative recommendations have drawn loud objections from union officials.

But the general opinion here is that it will take something more than the foamings of Sen. Pat McNamara and AFL-CIO President George Meany to whitewash the American labor movement in the public mind.

McNamara and Meany both charge the McClellan committee with trying to smear all organized labor in a blanket indictment because of the sins of a few of its officials.

Senator McNamara says that the committee has exposed wrongdoing in only five out of 189 international organizations containing fewer than two million out of 18 million union members.

THIS IS A defense along the line followed by union leaders when it was first charged their organizations were infiltrated by Communists, over 20 years ago. It was admitted then that the vast majority of workers were good loyal Americans, free from communism.

Labor unions today are at least semi-public bodies, however. Two to 10 per cent corruption, like 2 to 10 per cent communism isn't clean enough to win public approval.

Ten years after the communists-in-unions charges were being bandied about, labor officials were still cleaning house. The American labor movement today still cannot claim that it is 100 per cent free from Communist infiltration.

Similarly, it is now recognized that the American labor movement may have another 10-year job on its hand to clean its house of corrupt leadership and practices.

SENATOR McNamara's further charge that equal emphasis was not placed on investigating corruption in management is not completely borne out by the McClellan committee majority's long list of findings.

They accuse management of extensive collusion with unions. This is shown to have resulted in under-the-table and sweetheart contracts, payoffs to union offi-

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Whenever five individuals and two families take the trouble to write in and ask for information, only a cobra could refuse to answer. When, of seven inquiries, six are on exactly the same subject, then the need to answer is strong. The inquiries came from as many areas of the United States as there were letters, which might indicate a trend. The question: what can you tell me (us) honestly and accurately about Mexican pottery?

Here are people going to Mexico this summer, they want to collect some fine and valuable examples, and they don't want any tourist guff. They want authentic, well-made, artistic items, suitable for room decor and collecting. They want to know where to go and who to see, without driving all over Mexico for it, with the possibility of going wrong, even then.

ALL RIGHT. Here's the best I can do. In almost any Mexican city or town you will see pottery. Most of it is useful in the kitchen, little of it has real decorative or collection value. It is routine in form and color.

Oaxaca excels in the dead black pottery of the region and it is interesting stuff. They do best with small figures of angels, devils, peacocks, sharks and mermaids. The figurines are amusing, the color unusual in that it is deep, velvety black.

Toluca has some ware that is collectable, most of it is merely useful. The isthmus area has some—but very little—truly great ware. You have to seek it out.

IF YOUR MEANS and time are short, go directly to Guadalajara, check into a hotel and then taxi the few miles out of town to Tlaquepaque, if tourist items are your interest—but don't sneer. Many of these tourist items are fascinating, adroit, unusual and worth having. They will even sell you, if you have that kind of mind, miniature obelisks staged inside a pottery wheel shell that you cannot tell from a real shell either by feel or look. But be warned: the United States Customs will confiscate these little, bizarre items if they catch you with them.

If true Mexican art, ages old, wrought in the old, old way, true museum stuff, is what you want—and apparently it is—don't go to Tlaquepaque. Go to Tonalá, with the accent on the last "a."

TONALÁ IS not any farther from Guadalajara than is Tlaquepaque, and is composed in the main of private homes where whole families carry on a tradition. In some, a few items are out front as a sort of sign of the shop. You may have to ask about others. They won't seem like the homes of master potters, at all.

The man to see—the one man to see—in Tonalá is Amado Galvan, and if you are smart you will, like all of his neighbors, address him as maestro. He is a maestro at his work. He is Rodin, Michelangelo, da Vinci, what you will.

Each family in Tonalá does signature work: that is, the glaze, decor, texture, even shapes are uniquely the work of that family. You can recognize a Galvan in an instant, for example, once you know his work.

Do you want a museum piece? Maestro Galvan has it. He has several. Worked patiently by hand, decorated by hand in a curious style which combines Persia, Mexican and Chinese styles into one that is magnificently Galvan.

GALVAN IS the man Mexican families of position and taste collect. Private collections of his work are worth fortunes. An entire set of delicately wrought and exquisitely decorated Galvan cups, for example, is a prize. He specializes in earth tones, with accents in black and white.

Another family, because it has access to this clay and only this clay, specializes in mauve-colored objects. That is their signature. You can find some in Turkey or maybe in the depths of China, but when you see an item you know where it came from: the Gonzalez family of Tonalá.

You need not travel one foot farther than Tonalá, whatever house you patronize there, to collect for yourself the best, the most desirable, the most artistic of Mexican potteries.

Briefly: Tlaquepaque for better than just good tourist items, but Tonalá for museum pieces.

Too Honest For Wife's Good

WASHINGTON — Some people claim they can see horns growing from the red hair of Walter Reuther. Others insist that this president of the United Automobile Workers is the all-time top hero of the labor movement.

The truth probably is somewhere in between. All I know for sure is that he's an honest man in his personal dealings; he's so doggedly pure that his good wife probably doesn't get all the pretty dresses she deserves. Her husband always gave the money back when in my opinion he should have kept it and handed it to the long-suffering Mrs. R. She handles the family bookkeeping.

SHE LOSES a check stub occasionally, even as another wife cial and trade agreements with management to achieve monopolies.

Management is also accused of outright violation of Taft-Hartley and National Labor Relations acts through hiring labor spies and in reprisals against union members.

The five recommendations of the McClellan committee for new legislation present nothing new. They merely call attention to abuses which were known to exist when the committee first started to investigate corrupt practices.

Bills to regulate union, pension and welfare funds have been before Congress for some years without action.

The need for legislation to insure democracy in unions has also been obvious for a long time. Even the American Civil Liberties Union has now proposed a "bill of rights" to protect individual members from their unions.

COMMITTEE recommendations to curb the activities of middlemen in labor-management disputes and to clarify the "no-man's land" in labor-management relations could be achieved by amendments to the NLRB and Taft-Hartley acts.

It is notorious, however, that Congress has for some years refused to consider any amendments to labor laws, whether they were pro-union or anti-union in sentiment.

I could name, and I'm familiar with Reuther's financial affairs simply because the Senators asked him. They were looking into the Kohler bathtub strike, but they were in the habit of demanding of all labor moguls where they got the money and what they did with it.

This didn't faze our honest man, clad so soberly in dark gray suit and black tie that he looked more like a Senator even than a Senator does.

He said his wife fished around in her cupboard and came up with income tax returns going back seven years, check stubs 12 years old, and certain other records from 20 years ago. These he handed to the racket investigating committee's demon accountant, Carmine Bellino. Then Reuther passed to the Senators a meticulously prepared summary of his fiscal affairs.

IN 1942 HE was earning $4,913 a year as vice-president of the Auto Workers. In 1946, as president, he got a raise to $8,500. In 1953, as president of the CIO, he got $16,442. He's had a couple of raises since and he now earns $20,920.

In 1945 he contributed $1,698 of his wages to the union's auto strike relief fund, and in 1950 $989 to the Chrysler strike fund.

He held a wide assortment of other union offices simultaneously, but accepted no wages from any of them. He also served as consultant to various government agencies.

These included the Office of Production Management, War Manpower Commission, War Production Board, and the Economic Cooperation Administration. Most of these outfits tried to pay him $50 a day for every day he worked for Uncle Sam, but instead of giving these checks to Mrs. R. for new hats, our Walter refused to accept them.

SOMETIMES the government paid his travel expenses. When it did, he endorsed them and handed 'em over to the UAW, which already had paid his bills when he was on the road.

Reuther, as any newspaper reader knows by now, is a silver-tongued spellbinder, with gestures. So he's in wide demand as a speaker.

For orations before widely assorted clubs, Reuther charges a substantial honorarium, but do you think Mrs. R. gets any of that? Haw. Her husband frequently writes magazine pieces, and he doesn't do them for free, either, but his wife sees none of the pelf from his literary endeavors.

IN 1951 HE established the Reuther Labor Foundation, which contributes to charities and researches involving unionism. All of his oratorical fees and writing checks go into this. In the last six years he has donated to it $11,250.

I still think he should have kept some of the money for the lady in his life. Even his arch-enemy, Senator Barry Goldwater, would agree.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Whoever said "nothing ever changes" must have had his head stuck in a barrel.

Anyone who has his head out of a barrel knows just the opposite is true: everything is always changing. As soon as you get used to something, you find it is different.

What was near and familiar a moment, a month, a year ago, now is strange and far away and long gone.

Every tomorrow becomes a yesterday, linked to today only by the magic bridge of memory.

For example: Remember, as a kid, what fun it was to go out at night and watch for falling stars, instead of falling rockets?

Remember when a woman didn't feel well dressed unless she had a silver fox fur grapping her by the throat?

Remember when a fat man was regarded as jolly, not frustrated?

Remember when small boys, instead of teen-age girls trying to look like ballet dancers, wore long black stockings?

REMEMBER WHEN what the country needed most was just a good five-cent cigar?

Remember when you opened a package of breakfast cereal and threw the box top away because there wasn't anybody to mail it to who wanted to send you something back for it?

Remember when a woman's place was in the kitchen, and a man helped with the dishes only if he was a visiting relative and unemployed?

Remember when everybody was mad because the dollar was worth only 54 cents? What's it worth now?

Remember when people went to cocktail parties just for fun?

REMEMBER WHEN bars served every fourth drink on the house? If you tipped the bartender it was a sure sign you were from out of town.

Remember when the soprano in an opera had to have a foreign accent and outweigh the tenor, or her voice was no good?

Remember when the only people who went on diets were those who were in bad sick?

Remember when the only place you could see wall-to-wall carpeting were in movie lobbies and funeral parlors?

Remember when you could buy something in a dime store for a dime?

Remember when a man didn't have to waste his youth and strength lighting cigarettes for women because no nice girl smoked—at least not in public?

Remember when the most popular girl in the neighborhood was the one who could cook the best fudge?

DEAR READER: If you have some favorite "remember when" items of your own, mail them to Hal Boyle, care of this newspaper, for more trips down memory lane.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—An issue of transcontinental importance to We the People has been raised in the nation's capital. A gallant Wave was refused admittance to a USO dance at our famous military togetherness retreat on Lafayette Square because she was wearing a sweater.

The pride of the Navy was turned back at the door by Oscar Kurtz, USO director, who took a stand that is being challenged by our armed forces. Kurtz handed down the dissentable opinion that a sweater on a member of the fair sex "is not conducive to establishing a good relationship between boy and girl."

The rebuffed Wave's escort, a young Army Pfc. named David Ross, said he could not fathom the director's objections, anyway, because the sweater his date was wearing was no ordinary one. Pfc. Ross described it as "a sweater with a dicky and a little pink rose on it."

This is a serious issue, gentlemen, and not one to be met lightly. Are we to stand meekly by and see a sweater with a dicky and a little pink rose on it turned away from our doors?

A PETTY ANNOYANCE that besets the traveler in this country is that he can't leave his hotel room, even to walk down the corridor to the mail chute, without having his room usurped for a wedding reception. Most of us are inured to this, but not Federal Communications Commissioner Rosal H. Hyde.

Mr. Hyde (not to be confused with Dr. Jekyll) testified before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee the other day that he had been quite put out by this commonplace inconvenience. Asked if he had ever received any undue favors from the radio and television industry he helps to regulate, he replied that at least one experience had proved quite the contrary.

He said he had gone to San Francisco to make a speech at a regional broadcasters' convention. He said he was assigned to a "very expensive room" in the St. Francis. But, of course, the inevitable happened. He left the room for a short time and returned to find that it had been taken over in his absence for a wedding reception.

The FCC regulator was asked what he had done about this annoyance. He replied that he had moved to another room.

THIS IS, OF course, always a possible solution. But there are times when it is not feasible. Many a hotel sojourner, finding his room taken over by a wedding reception, learns no other room is available, and has to join the wedding reception.

This is not so painful if one is a gregarious type. But there are reserved persons who do not care to make merry with strange newsweds. In this event, about all he can do is linger in the corridor until the bride and groom depart, then importune the chambermaid to vacuum up the confetti and the overcome revelers.

I think it is high time, however, that hotels curbed the widespread practice of letting a wedding party use a guest's room every time he goes out for a cup of coffee or to address regional broadcasters. I am directing my appeal particularly to the guiding genius of the St. Francis, Dan London, because he is a very reasonable man.

Mr. London could make an enviable name for himself with the traveling public by establishing the precedent that a wedding party may not invade a guest's room unless the occupant has been silly enough to hang a "Do Not Disturb" sign on his door.

State Forest Report Issued For District

William H. Johnson, district forester, has released the semi-annual report on the management of state forests in Allegany and Garrett counties.

During the period, January 1, 1957 through June 30, 1957, the gross income on timber sales was $8,120. A breakdown includes the sale of 224,000 board feet of saw timber; 679 cords of pulp wood; 2,155 cubic feet of mine posts; 1,165 cubic feet of pine wood; 1,370 chestnut fence rails and four tons of tanbark.

Other miscellaneous incomes from the forest land include gas leases, Green Ridge, $2,803; rights of way, $174 and rentals, $342; in all forests; gas royalties, $53.42 in Garrett County; recreation receipts, all forests, $3,979.

During 1957 a half million trees were planted, according to Johnson, who said that this spring some 400,000 trees were planted.

Yet to be reforested are less than 150 acres which should be accomplished next year. Green Ridge in Allegany County, Swallow Falls, Savage River and Potomac State Forests in Garrett County are included in the report.

Higher sales of timber are realized during the second half of the calendar year, according to Johnson, who said this is also true of receipts realized from recreation facilities.

'Mitchell Day' Ceremony Set

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United Mine Workers of Dist. 5 will observe "Mitchell Day" Tuesday with a parade and banquet, but fellow unionists in Dist. 4 will forgo the celebration because of unemployment.

Michael P. Honus, secretary of Dist. 4, said there would be no official celebration in Fayette County and the part of Washington County included in Dist. 4. Dist. 5 members, who come from parts of Washington and Allegheny Counties and Allegheny County will hold a parade in New Kensington and a dinner in Pittsburgh.

Mitchell Day commemorates the start of the eight-hour day in the coal mining industry.

Heinz Employees Get Wage Boost

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The H. J. Heinz Co. will begin paying about 2,000 production workers an additional 11 cents an hour tomorrow. John Bell, president of Local 325 Canning and Pickle Workers Union, said the increase includes a 7 1/2 cent hourly hike under a contract signed last year and a 3 1/2-cent-an-hour cost-of-living increase.

The College Entrance Examination Board tests given recently at Allegany High School for area high school graduates and students were taken by 47 according to John R. Snyder, guidance counselor at Allegany.

The tests, which are required for admission by many colleges, consisted of a three-hour scholastic aptitude test given in the morning and a series of one-hour achievement tests in the afternoon.

Candidates who took the tests may have their test scores reported to any college or university which they wish to enter. Snyder was assisted in the supervision of the testing program by Robert Hutcheson, a teacher.

Those who took the scholastic aptitude test included Lynn Workmeister, an Allegheny High School junior; Edward Eagan, Beall High School; Dorsey White, Bruce High School; John Goss, Fort Hill High School; Charles Howell and Joseph Passarelli, both LaSalle; Blanche Brinker, St. Mary's; Sally McGreevey, Catholic Girls Central; Richard Reiley, Bedford, Pa.; Frances Solis, Derry, Pa. Township; Ila Martin and Walter Martin, both Moorefield, W. Va.; Judy Johnson, Berkeley Springs, W. Va.; Joseph Cioni, LaSalle graduate, and Wayne Martz, Fort Hill graduate.

The achievement tests were taken by Marlene Brings and Royce Hodges, both Allegheny; Diana Mechan and Josephine Roe, both Beall; John Dean, James Diggs and Jeffrey Getz, all Fort Hill; William Bolt and Richard Garlitz, both LaSalle; Kathryn Mullan, Catholic Girls Central; Sara Kooztz, Bedford, Pa.; William Christner, Hyndman, Pa.; Betty Pancake, Romney, W. Va.; Susan Davidson, Keyser, W. Va.; and William Kolberg, Potomac State College. Seventeen others took both the aptitude and achievement tests.

They included Jean Van Orner, Gregory Caswell, William Hardin and Walter Waugaman, all Allegheny; Gene Sager, Beall; Charles Kozlo, Bruce; Dana Brown, William Matheny and Henry Johnson all Fort Hill; Thomas Madden and Frederick Meyers, both LaSalle; Richard Arnold and Edmund Paccino, both Mt. Savage; Artie Ashby and Edgel Sereno, both Southern High School, Oakland; Maria Hoke, Salisbury-Elk Lick (Pa.) Township, and Niles Joannessen, Potomac State College.

West Virginia Man Pays $25 For Beer Sale

Roy W. Murray, 25, bartender at Dixie Inn on West Virginia Route 28 was fined $25 and costs Saturday on a charge of illegal sale of beer to a minor under 18.

Justice of the Peace C. J. Phillips in Ridgeley said Murray pleaded guilty to the charge, a first offense.

West Virginia State Police made the charge against Murray, stating he sold beer to a boy under 18 on March 15 while tending bar at the inn.

They added that O. E. Bradford, Short Gap, proprietor of the inn, now faces possible citation by the West Virginia Non-Intoxicating Beer Commission at Charleston for suspension of his beer license.

It also is possible West Virginia authorities, in an attempt to break up gangs of minors traveling to taverns in the state to buy beer illegally, may bring contributing charges against the proprietors of the taverns.

Conviction of a more serious offense could bring about revocation of the owner's license to operate a business, police added. If a license is revoked by the beer commission then a business establishment cannot be reopened for one year from the date of revocation.

Mr. Phillips said he has received numerous reports of an "overflow of riffraff" at nearby beer-selling places, adding that many fights have occurred.

Many minors, unable to obtain beer, will have an older person make the purchase for them, police said. These older purchasers also face prosecution if caught.

Authorities said 3.2 beer can be sold in West Virginia to persons over 18, although a buyer must be 21 or over to purchase liquor at the state store. It cannot be sold legally by the drink. Beer cannot be sold except at bars or tables in the taverns and police have been checking on possible violations of this nature.

State Police added that the principal complaints received by them on illegal sales have come from Maryland authorities who report persons under age are crossing the state line to buy beer and liquor in West Virginia.

Tropers C. C. Oliver, R. B. Noechel and Mineral County Sheriff Walter O. Mott investigated the illegal sale.

Optimist Club Plans Election

Officers of the Optimist Club of Cumberland will be elected at a meeting Wednesday at 6:15 p.m. at Central YMCA, according to L. Newton Evans, current president.

A slate of officers has been selected by a nominating committee, Evans said. They are Len Barkman, president; Robert Esler, vice president; Lester Hudson, vice president, and Samuel Dishong, sergeant-at-arms.

Nominated for the board of governors are Harold Brooks, Lyndon Gump, Frank Kaplan, Ray Kenney, Donald W. Mason, D. B. Miller, D. L. Miller and Carl Winfield. Eight members are to be elected, with the four receiving the largest number of votes serving two-year terms, and the next four one-year terms.

Israel-Arab Situation Outlined At Dinner Here

Simcha Dinitz, research analyst for the Israel Embassy in Washington, said "Live and let Live" is Israel's motto as it marks its tenth year of independence.

Dinitz spoke at a conference of members of the Western Maryland B'nai B'rith Lodge at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

He said that if Israel cannot achieve an immediate accord with Arab states, it must aim for co-existence, and remain strong as it strives for that ideal.

Nothing can deter aggression more efficiently, he said, than for a country to keep vigilant and strong, so aggression from any quarter will not pay.

Dinitz, who served with the Israeli Army during Israel's "war of liberation," reported Israel's strength lies not in armaments but in the concept of "ingathering" its brethren, its rising agricultural production, its cultural progress and vision, "without which a nation shall perish."

Recent military engagements between Israel and the Arab world, he said, prove that battles are not won solely by the number of soldiers or even by the quality of armaments, but by the ideals for which they are fighting.

In an address marking the coming celebration of the 10th year of independence April 24, Dinitz said Israel has come a long way in the decade.

Israel's population, he said, grew from 650,000 to 2,000,000 during the decade.

The new nation created out of a desolate land, he said, has become a bulwark of democracy in an area which has few ardent exponents of democracy.

The Arab world has been growing during Israel's brief history, he said, and now numbers 11 separate sovereignties, stretched over three million miles of land rich in opportunities.

"Is the world asking too much," he queried, "if it demands of this vast empire that it live in peace and harmony with a little state established in the cradle of its birth?"

"We do not envy and do not begrudge the Arab notions for their three million square miles but cannot apologize for our 8,000 miles," he said.

The Arab refugee problem, he reported, was not created by Israel and its solution is not postponed because of Israel.

The Arab world, he said, has vast areas in which refugees can be nestled and the UN has a fourth of a billion dollars available for the resettlement of refugees.

But this vast sum, he said, lies idle because of the refusal of the Arab governments to take positive steps which might end the refugee problem "and deprive them of a political football."

Israel, he said, has integrated 80,000 Arab refugees in her territory while accepting half a million Jewish refugees forced to leave Arab countries without their property.

"If Arab governments treated their own kinsmen as Israel has treated 1,000,000 Jewish refugees," he said, "the Arab refugee problem would be non-existent today."

The latest loan from the Export-Import Bank, he said, will be used primarily to develop an irrigation network to make the deserts bloom again.

Americans of all faiths, he added, are encouraged to visit Israel and to see how efficiently American aid has been used for economic and social advancement.

Area Schools To Exhibit At Fair

MORGANTOWN — When the State Science Fair for 1958 is held at West Virginia University, April 24-26, high school chapters of the Junior Academy of Science from Ridgeley, Keyser, Piedmont and Parsons will be among those having exhibits at the affair.

Exhibits will be prepared by students in Grades 9 through 12, in private, public and parochial schools affiliated with the Junior Academy of Science.

Scholarships and awards will be given to the entries showing the most creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity and dramatic value.

The two grand prizes are $250 scholarships to a senior boy and a senior girl. Division prizes will be given in biology and physical science.

'Hot Wire' Kills Boy, 5

EASTON, Md. (AP) — A dangling 7,200-volt wire. An inquisitive 5-year-old boy. And death.

The wire, sagging from last week's snow storm, took the life yesterday of Tommy Clark of Stevensville in the Eastern Shore county of Queen Anne.

The youngster, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark, was playing in the snow in his back yard Friday afternoon when he tugged at the electrical wire.

He suffered shock and first and second degree burns over most of his body. His mother, standing at the back door of their home, witnessed the accident.

Menjou Says Cash Stirred Turn To TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Adolphe Menjou is as proud of his new anthology dramatic series, "Target," on TV as any performer could be. "Money," is his answer to any one asking why he returned to TV. "Everybody in TV is in it for money, but to hear some of them talk it's all for art."

"I'm not positive," said Menjou, who has made more than 250 motion pictures, "but I don't think I could make a living out of pictures at the moment—if I had to, which I don't. They just aren't making enough pictures these days. If they want you badly enough they'll get you, but they don't want most actors that badly."

In fairness to Menjou, however, it must be pointed out that he is currently, or was recently, visible in movie houses playing in "Paths of Glory," "The Ambassador's Daughter," "I Married a Woman" and "Bundle of Joy." Let's always keep the record straight for an honest man.

Menjou is the host and plays frequently in "Target." Each self-contained drama is characterized, he says, by "a lot of emotion and action, whether their theme is a western, law enforcement, crime, drama or comedy. Who is the target? It varies each week. Sometimes the villain. Sometimes the hero. As with life, it changes all the time."

Menjou recently turned 68 but doesn't look it.

An estimated 90% of all women in the United States regularly read daily newspapers.

"Why are there service charges on a checking account?"

Pure logic: When the cost of the bank's services to a checking depositor is greater than the interest which the depositor's loanable balance allows the bank to earn, the bank must make a charge. But if you are a checking depositor at our bank you can avoid service charges by maintaining a balance large enough to compensate us for the number of checks you draw. Ask us to work out actual figures—and use our economical checking service fully!

Blast, Fire Injures Two

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP)—Two employees of the State Roads Commission, are in serious condition following an explosion-fire last night at a truck weighing station on U.S. 40 near Perryville. State Trooper David Foster said propane gas, used for heating, apparently had accumulated in the station house. When one of the men lit a cigarette lighter, this touched off the explosion which knocked out the walls of the station house, he said.

Admitted to Harford Memorial Hospital were Michael J. Evanko, 37, of Catonsville and Andrew F. Zaprisk, 49, of Baltimore. They suffered second and third degree burns of the head, arms and legs.

Navy Plane Crash Takes Life Of Pilot

WEIRTON (AP) — The fiery crash of a single-engine Navy attack bomber near here Sunday took the life of Ensign L.K. Stovall, about 27, of Oceana, Va.

The Naval Air Station at Columbus, Ohio, said that Stovall was enroute from Selfridge Field, Mich., to Oceana — a large naval installation near Virginia Beach — when the AD-6 plunged into a gully five miles north of here.

Mrs. Lucille Zapor told police she and her husband, Stanley, saw the plane about 200 feet in the air and falling in a tight spin. Just before it crashed and exploded, it slashed between two houses occupied by the Ralph Cain and Orin Keller families, Mrs. Zapor related.

The propeller-driven craft cut a 100 foot-wide swath through brush for about 400 yards. Wreckage was strewn over a half-mile area after the bomber disintegrated.

Police said the largest remaining pieces of the plane were a two-foot square part of a wing and a wing tank.

Investigating officers from Columbus were scheduled to inspect the wreckage today.

Last Thursday, two occupants of another Navy plane managed to parachute unhurt to earth before their attack bomber crashed in a remote section of Logan County.

Fire Results In Suffocation Of Native Of Area

Robert L. Baldwin, 38-year-old former area resident, died of suffocation recently in a fire which gutted his one-room apartment in Bellwood, near Altoona.

Born at Old Fields, W. Va., he was a son of Carson L. and Ollie (Weatherly) Baldwin, Alexandria, Pa. He had been employed at the Tyrone, Pa., plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Authorities said the fire was discovered by a passerby who was a stranger in town, and who had difficulty in finding a place to call in the early-morning alarm.

The interior of the apartment was a mass of flames by the time firemen arrived, and Baldwin's lifeless body was discovered on the floor near the back door of the apartment.

Firemen said it appeared that the fire originated in a corner of a front room, and it is assumed Baldwin fell asleep while smoking in a chair, awakening to find it in flames and the front door blocked by fire.

The flames had not reached the body by the time firemen entered the apartment.

Registrars Begin Tour Of County

Eight Republicans and one Democrat were signed up yesterday when deputy registrars of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors visited McCoolle and Luke in the start of a county-wide registration tour.

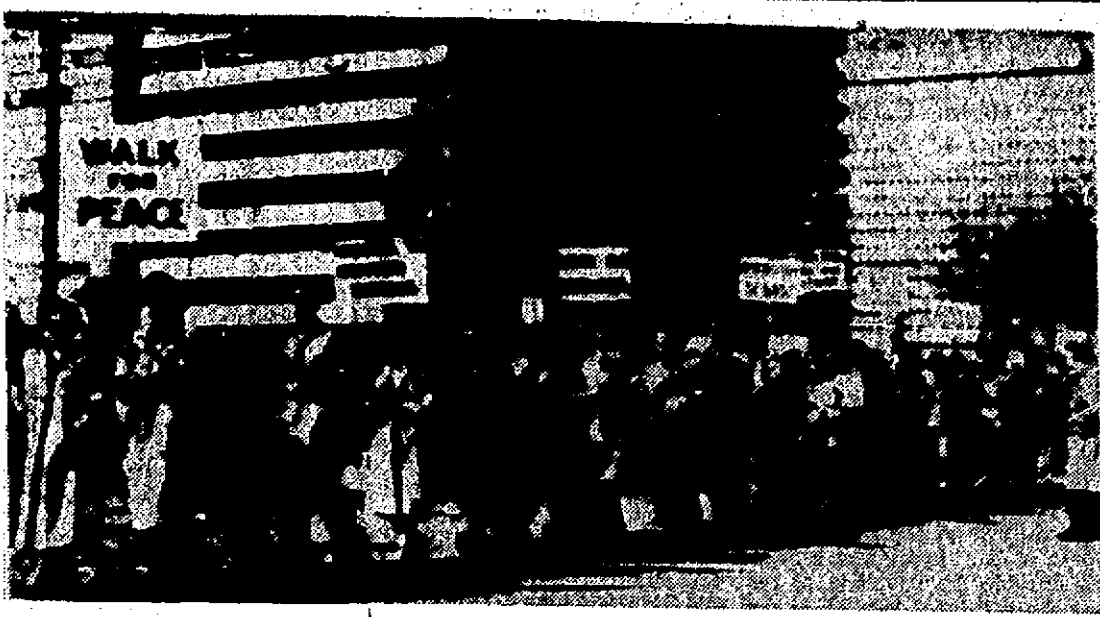

John Zapf, deputy registrar, said three Republicans, two males and one female, were signed up at the fire hall in McCoolle where one Democrat registered.

In Luke at the Devon Club library five Republicans, three male and two females, inked their names to the ballot books. There were no Democrats. Working with Zapf is Miss Bessie R. Baird.

They will be at the Barton City Hall on Monday from 2 to 5 p.m. and at the Midland fire hall from 6 to 9 p.m.

Group Plans Observance

Plans for the observance of Soil Stewardship Week were discussed at a recent meeting of the Allegany Soil Conservation District supervisors, according to Joseph M. Steger, county agent.

The observance will be held during the week of May 11-18, according to Floyd Buser, chairman, who said ministers will be requested to preach sermons on the need for conservation work.

Also discussed was the revision of the program work plan for the Soil Conservation Service of the county. Martin M. Gordon, acting work unit conservationist for the SCS in Allegany County, submitted his monthly report.

He pointed out that his office made livestock water pond surveys on the farms of Thomas Barton, Pinto, and Mark Schriver, Paw Paw, during March.

Contour strips were laid out on the Earl Stonestreet farm along Murley's Branch. Richard Zeamer of Westport, who has a 14-acre farm on Stoney Run Road, became a district cooperater and is interested in a farm pond as well as a land treatment program.

A senior at Flintstone High School, Guy Stonestreet, Jr., of Murley's Branch, who plans to make farming his career, also signed up as a district cooperater.

Clue Sought In Bludgeon Death Case

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police sought today to question every employee of the Carlton House Hotel in search for leads in the Saturday night bludgeoning slaying of 60-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman.

Mrs. Hoffman, a maid in the downtown Pittsburgh hotel, was found beaten to death in a room she had been cleaning up after a guest left.

Asst. Police Supt. Adam Geisler said he is working on the theory that a sex motive prompted the slaying. Mrs. Hoffman is divorced from her husband who resides in Youngstown, Ohio. She has two grown sons.

Police questioned two men — one the last guest to occupy the room and the other an employee — but released both yesterday.

No Price Raise Now
By Independent Cabs
Nine independent cab operators in Cumberland will not raise the 50-cent fare to 60 cents April 1.

The Astor and Yellow Top Cab companies have announced the fare boost. The 71 Cab Company will also go along with Astor and Yellow Top in the boost.

The independent cab drivers, who maintain a stand on North Centre Street, near Baltimore Street, will continue to carry passengers toward downtown Cumberland for 25 cents when on a return trip to the stand.

WILLIAM M. WILSON

W. M. Wilson Promoted

William M. Wilson, son of Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, 417 Washington Street, has been promoted to manager of passenger and automotive services of the United States Steel Corporation.

He will direct all commercial passenger transportation activities of the firm which has one of the largest fleets of cars and trucks in the world. An estimated 4,000 vehicles are listed.

He is the youngest traffic executive to hold a position of this type with United States Steel and will continue to direct the activities from Pittsburgh.

He is a son of Mrs. Wilson and the late Dr. Frank M. Wilson. He graduated from Allegheny High School and served 31 months on a Navy LST during World War II.

Wilson studied business administration at the University of Maryland and joined US Steel when he graduated.

Commissioners Frank Complaints

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners considered complaints filed from county residents.

Twenty residents of Ellerslie forwarded a signed letter to the commissioners, in which they stated that Green Street, in Ellerslie, is in "bad condition," for a distance of 200 feet. They asked for an inspection of the road and also requested repairs.

Cecil B. Moore requested that holes in the Potomac Hollow Road, in Barton, be repaired.

Mrs. William Farrell, of the Mt. Savage area, requested the repair of a gate on her property which she said was demolished by a county cinder truck.

Chester Ranker, Lake Avenue, LaVale, reported that water was washing away the roadway, and requested that the situation be remedied.

All complaints were referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor.

Baltimore Utility Says:

378 Miles Of New Wire Strung After Big Storm

Business Briefs...

NEW YORK—(INS)—Contracts for future construction in the U. S. awarded in February totaled $1,953,422,000, a decline of ten per cent from the same month last year. A survey by F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news specialists, showed dollar volume in the residential category amounted to $727.2 million, 17 per cent below the year earlier level. Non-residential contracts dropped eight per cent and heavy engineering awards were two per cent higher.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Steel Magazine said today the steel industry is pinning its hopes for second quarter improvement on four factors.

These were listed as the fact that recent output has been below actual consumption, the drop in consumers' inventories near rock-bottom, improvement of construction activity with better weather and government action to bolster confidence.

The metalworking weekly said the first ten days of April should show when the auto industry can help perk up the steel industry. Detroit thinks its sales slump has leveled off, but is awaiting mid-April reports to confirm its theory.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Marquardt Aircraft Co. today reported record sales of $39,864,000 in 1957, up 72 per cent from the previous year. Earnings of $903,000, equal to $1.62 per common share, compared with $1.17 per share the previous year.

NEW YORK—(INS)—General Dynamics Corp. today reported record sales and earnings for 1957. Revenue of $1,562,538,000 represents an increase of 44 per cent over the previous year. Earnings of $44,278,763, or $4.80 per common share, were 32 per cent ahead of 1956, excluding non-recurring profits in that year.

File Equity Suits

Equity suits that have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court are entitled Orlan M. Frantz vs. Donald H. Frantz, Norma L. Appel vs. Mason A. Appel Jr., and Kathleen L. Jenkins, a minor, by Hazel M. Robinson, her mother, vs. Charles E. Jenkins.

BALTIMORE, Md.—The Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. says it strung 378 miles of new wire, enough to reach New York City and back after the recent crippling snow storm.

The utility also said it installed 1,100 new poles in one week's time and it had a total of 2,849 repairmen working.

More than 150,000 customers were without electricity, some for as long as seven days.

The company made its comments in "A Report to Our Customers," outlined in a newspaper advertisement.

The company concluded by saying, "We did everything humanly possible without regard to the costs involved."

No estimate of the cost was given, but the firm said earlier that damages would be more than one million dollars.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Maryland said its storm cost will amount to at least 2½ million dollars. Some 50,000 to 60,000 phones were knocked out of commission during the storm.

Meanwhile, the federal income tax office said those inconvenienced by the snow will not be able to deduct expenses for personal injuries, temporary lights, fuel, moving or rentals for temporary quarters.

Those listing storm damages on their returns next year will only be able to deduct for losses to property owned by the taxpayer.

Khrushchev's Rise Lessens War Dangers

WASHINGTON, Pa.—Harold E. Stassen, former disarmament advisor to President Eisenhower and a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, sees Khrushchev's rise to power in Russia as lessening the danger of nuclear war.

"Khrushchev is as much or more aware than any ruler in Russia has been of what modern war would mean," Stassen said Saturday night in a non-political speech before the Washington County Bar Assn.

County Jail Budget Hiked

The budget for the Allegany County jail for the fiscal year starting July 1 has been increased due to a larger number of prisoners from petty crime.

Last year, Sheriff Edward R. Muir requested a $10,000 budget for the operation of the County Jail. This year, Commissioner William A. Wilson pointed out, the sheriff is asking for $14,000 for the jail.

As Wilson explained it, Sheriff Muir anticipated an average daily jail population of 19 inmates during the 1957-58 fiscal year when he asked for the $10,000. Instead the average jail population has been 31 inmates which is the reason the increased money is needed. The commission agreed that this was one budget that could not be cut.

John J. Long Urges Talks On Span Plan

Commissioner Asks Virginia Avenue Underpass Eliminated

Finance Commissioner John J. Long today proposed that the city discuss with the B&O Railroad the possibility of an overhead bridge across its tracks at Virginia Avenue to replace the Virginia Avenue subway.

Long made the motion for the discussion, seconded by William V. Keegan, commissioner of police and fire, at this morning's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Long spoke out after City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said the city will discuss next Monday a plan of streets closed by the city in South End in connection with the B&O's yard extension project and a possible quit-claim deed to that property.

Long wanted to know if in negotiations over that property anything was discussed about a new Virginia Avenue bridge to replace the present underpass.

It was pointed out the matter takes on added importance, because the east-west segments of the Industrial Boulevard converge at the corner of Virginia Avenue and Laing Avenue.

Keegan agreed with Long and both emphasized the importance of the bridge to movement of traffic after the boulevard is completed.

Council acted on mostly routine matters, delaying some until next week since two members, Commissioners William H. Buchholz and Mrs. Josephine Edwards, were absent.

In routine matters, council ordered city offices and departments closed at noon Friday in observance of Good Friday. They will reopen at the regular hour Monday.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to execute a release in favor of William Joseph Wiltson in consideration of payment of $36.60 to the city. The payment is the outgrowth of damages to a city traffic box and light at Baltimore and Mechanic Streets when struck by an automobile operated by Wiltson October 18, 1957.

Checks were ordered issued to employees tomorrow for the last two weeks of March.

Payment of $90 was ordered to John Shannon for hospital and medical expenses incurred after a fall at Third Street and Kraft alley as the result of ice accumulation on the street.

Church Plans Easter Services

Pre-Easter services at Willey Ford Church of the Brethren were announced today by Rev. Corneli T. Chaney, pastor.

Services will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. with a film, "The Meaning of Easter," being shown. A candlelight pageant, "The Seven Sayings of Christ on the Cross," will be presented Thursday at 7:30 p. m. by the Senior and Youth Choirs.

The church will observe the Love Feast and Communion service Friday at 7:30 p. m. The Willey Ford Church will also take part in the Easter sunrise service at the Pinto Mennonite Church from 6 to 7 a. m.

A program will be presented Easter Sunday at 11 a. m. with the Junior and Senior Choirs featured. A film, "He Lives," will be presented Easter Sunday night.

Man Awarded Compensation

The Maryland Workman's Compensation Board has awarded William W. O'Brien compensation for permanent partial disability for a back injury he sustained while employed by the City of Cumberland.

Notice of the award of $25 per week not to exceed a total of $2,500 was received today by Julius E. Schindler, attorney for O'Brien.

O'Brien had previously been awarded temporary total disability for the period from October 16, 1956 to June 12, 1957 at the rate of $35 per week.

Schindler said O'Brien hurt his back while employed by the Water Department. He was lifting a meter and fell. Schindler said.

Warrants To Cost Parkers $5

The first $5 parking ticket warrants were issued this morning by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Last week Cumberland's Trial Magistrates warned motorists that in the future warrants issued for parking violators would call for a $5 fine instead of the usual $2. The magistrate has the right to fine a person up to $100 for a parking violation.

This morning Magistrate Dick signed 35 warrants for local residents.

Meter Receipts Drop

Parking meter inspector Harry Whisner said today receipts the week of March 23 were $808.90 compared to $725.30 the week of March 16, a decrease of $83.60.

GROUND BREAKING—A ground breaking ceremony was held yesterday by the congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at the site of its new church to be constructed on the old Roman property on Washington Street. Officiating (left to right) are

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor; Rev. William J. Yingling, Maryland Synod representative, and Mrs. Harry Utterback, president of the church choir. The Hazelwood Company will build the church.

Three Clubs Robbed At Meyersdale

Pennsylvania State Police and Somerset County authorities today continued an investigation of burglaries at three clubs in Meyersdale early yesterday. Between $1,500 and $2,000 was reported stolen.

Somerset County authorities, working with Pennsylvania State Police, said the burglars obtained approximately $1,200 to $1,500 from a small safe at the Loyal Order of Moose Club; another $400 from a tin box at the B.P.O. Elks Club; and nearly $200 in small bills and change from a petty cash box and several pinball machines at the Meyersdale American Legion club.

Police believe the three jobs were committed by the same person or persons, as all entries into the three buildings were through rear windows which were pried open or torn out.

The three clubs also are located within a city block of each other. As far as can be ascertained the Moose club is the heaviest loser. The large amount of money was left in the office safe because the attendant was ill and had not taken the money to the bank Saturday.

The thieves pried open a window to gain entrance to the Moose and then smashed open the small safe which contained club papers and the cash.

A rear toilet window was broken out to get into the Legion club, authorities said, and entrance was gained in the Elks club by tearing out the window frame.

Police believe the three jobs were committed sometime between 3 a. m. and 7 a. m. yesterday.

Suit Docketed As Wreck Result

Suit was docketed in Circuit Court today by Ralph Spitznas against the Big Savage Refractories Company of Frostburg and Delmar F. Biller, RD 4, city for damages to his car and personal injuries.

The declaration, filed for Spitznas by Edward J. Ryan, attorney, states that the plaintiff was operating his car on State Route 36 between Mt. Savage and Frostburg when a tractor-trailer owned by the refractories firm and driven by Biller was operated in a reckless and negligent manner.

It was alleged that the tractor-trailer traveled to the left center of the highway and struck Spitznas' car. The auto was wrecked and Spitznas claims he suffered several fractured ribs, was knocked unconscious and was unable to work in his occupation as a bookkeeper for some time. He is asking damages of $3,500.

Clark Named To Demo Post

Leslie J. Clark, local attorney, has been named treasurer of the Democratic "harmony" ticket in Allegany County, according to Simon F. Reilly, county chairman.

The ticket is comprised of J. Millard Tawes, for governor; Thomas D'Alessandro, for U. S. Senate; Ferdinand Sybert, for attorney general and Louis Goldstein, for comptroller.

Clark, a native of Lonaconing, has been practicing law in Cumberland for a number of years. A veteran of World War II, he is also an officer in the Army Reserve. He resides with his wife and two children in Park Heights.

Old Car Tags Are Illegal After Midnight

All automobiles must have the new license tags affixed by midnight if they are to be used.

More than 17,000 sets of tags have been sold so far and hundreds of persons visited the Court House today to purchase their tags.

Contrary to some reports, the county tax collector's office will continue to sell the new tags after today.

Eagles Appeal Nets $543.75

Cumberland Aerie 245, FO Eagles, raised $543.75 in its annual Easter Lily Parade, conducted in the downtown area Saturday.

The total, according to John L. (Ted) Farrin, chairman of the project, exceeded last year's contribution by $43.39. The proceeds are used to help finance the work of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Assisting in the solicitation were officers and volunteers from the membership of the Eagles Lodge, and a group of Tri-Hi-Y girls from Allegany and Fort Hill Schools under the supervision of Mrs. Bernice Rogers, Tri-Hi-Y advisor at Allegany.

Banners To Take Over Main Street

The city's having banner trouble—political and otherwise. At least three political banners and another advertising a church revival will blossom along Baltimore Street soon.

Approved previously by the Mayor and Council were Democratic and Republican campaign banners. Today, requests were submitted by the "Mann For Congress" campaign office and First Baptist Church to advertise its revival.

The latter two received approval subject to Police Department jurisdiction.

Bridge Game Delayed

The start of the game scheduled Thursday evening at the Woman's Civic Club by the Western Maryland Bridge Club has been delayed to 8:45 p. m. because of Holy Week services.

Four Companies Submit Bids For Cast Iron Pipe

Four companies submitted bids to the Mayor and Council today for cast iron pipe and/or fittings for a water line along the route of the Industrial Boulevard from Virginia Avenue to Oldtown Road.

Submitting bids were Ludlow Valve and Manufacturing Company, Inc., Troy, N. Y.; U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company, Pittsburgh; Darling Valve and Manufacturing Company, Williamsport, Pa.; and R. D. Wood Company, Philadelphia.

Bids were referred to the water commissioner, city auditor, Water Department maintenance superintendent and the city engineer for tabulation and report.

Armory On Agenda

Council placed on the agenda for consideration next week the status of the new National Guard Armory in Ridgedale Addition.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan told council Gen. Milton Reckord of the Military Department of Maryland, was desirous of obtaining land titles so that he could ask a congressional committee to allocate federal funds for the new Armory here.

Finan said the city does not have title to all property but does have some. He said these could be given to Reckord with assurance the city is working on the remainder and Reckord could then ask for the allocation. He said this would be done with the understanding that if anything should happen to plans for the Armory, the land titles would be reconveyed to the city.

Taxation Problem

Another question on tap for next week concerns assessment and taxation of a dwelling which lies partly in the city and partly in the county.

Involved is the property of John W. Wilcox, 811 Frost Avenue, who through his attorney, Gorman E. Getly, said a proposed agreement under which the dwelling would be assessed for one-third or 1,600 is acceptable.

Two-thirds of the dwelling and one-third of the land owned by Wilcox lie outside the city limits.

Both City Attorney Finan and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson agreed there is no question about the land but Gibson said the dwelling is another matter. The matter has been discussed for about a year and the question concerning the dwelling is whether (Continued on Page 16)

Mother, Babe Die; Three In Hospital

Fourth Child Ill At Grandparents' Home In Mt. Savage

A 25-year-old Mt. Savage mother and her newborn baby died yesterday in Miners Hospital Frostburg, shortly after being admitted.

The mother, Mrs. Mary (Carter) Smith, wife of James L. Smith, died at 7 a. m. The newborn son died at 4:35 a. m. shortly after being born.

A physician at the hospital said the mother died of heart failure.

Meanwhile, three of Mrs. Smith's children have been admitted to the hospital with the croup. The children are James, 5; Andy 2, and Georgia Lee, 1.

Another child, Richard Smith, is reported very sick at his grandparents home in Mt. Savage.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith had been residing in Baltimore until two weeks ago when they returned to visit Mr. Smith's parents in Eckhart and Mrs. Smith's family in Mt. Savage.

A native of Mt. Savage, Mrs. Smith was the daughter of Thomas J. and Dorothy (Chambers) Carter of Mt. Savage.

She attended St. Patrick's Parochial School in Mt. Savage.

She is also survived by seven sisters, Mrs. Paul Bridges, Baltimore; Mrs. Dorothy Rizer, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Joseph Finkel, Baltimore, and Rose, Jean, Christine and Bernadette Carter, all at home; a brother, Thomas Carter, Mt. Savage.

The body will be at the Hafer Funeral Home in Frostburg after 7 p. m. today. The family will receive friends from 2 until 4 p. m. and 7 until 9 p. m.

A requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Mt. Savage, on Wednesday at 9 a. m. Interment will be in St. Michael's Cemetery at Frostburg.

L. T. Powell Transferred By PPG Firm

Lear T. Powell tomorrow assumes duties of statistical quality control supervisor at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Pittsburgh plant at Shelbyville, Ind. It was announced today by R. M. Hainsturth, manager of the PPG Works 7 here.

Powell had been employed as statistical quality control engineer at Works 7 since May of last year. A graduate of Denver University, he also holds the Master of Science degree in biochemistry from West Virginia University.

Prior to joining the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, he held positions with the Celanese Corporation and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in Cumberland.

Active in community organizations, he has been chairman of the Sadoris Award Committee of the Cumberland Section of the American Society of Quality Control. As a first lieutenant in the Maryland National Guard, Lear has served as adjutant of Headquarters Company.

He is a member of the Park Place Methodist Church and is active in the Scottish Rite and a junior deacon in East Gate Lodge of the Masonic Order.

An avid skier, he has also held membership in the Western Maryland Ski Club.

The Powells have resided at 344 National Highway in LaVale. Mrs. Powell will remain in this area for a short time and join her husband at Shelbyville, at a later date.

Play Tomorrow

"The Wonderland of Spring" will be presented by the first four grades of Centre Street School tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the school auditorium.

TRANSFERRED—Lear T. Powell, LaVale, has been transferred to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at Shelbyville, Ind., as statistical quality control supervisor. He has been employed at the local PPG Works 7 since last May.

James Bruce Supported In Queen Annes

Other Candidates Make Statements Over Weekend

By The Associated Press

One of the warring Democratic Party factions in Queen Annes County has endorsed James Bruce for the U. S. Senate nomination. The other faction may do likewise at a meeting today or tomorrow.

Eastern Shore stirrings were among the main weekend developments in Maryland politics leading up to the May 20 primary election.

Elsewhere, three of Bruce's opponents for the Senate nomination had something to say.

Others Speak Out

Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro announced his campaign platform, George P. Mahoney made some suggestions about Social Security, and Clarence D. Long criticized D'Alessandro.

Mahoney played a rather prominent part in the Bruce endorsement.

Bruce, former ambassador to Argentina, was endorsed Saturday by the so-called "Organization Democrats" of Queen Annes, headed by State Sen. Robert R. Dean.

The other group, "United Democrats" headed by Harry C. Butler, was about to begin its meeting Sunday when Mahoney made an appearance. He urged the group to give him its support.

Butler said no selection would be made immediately and called another meeting for early this week. He is running against Dean for the State Senate nomination.

D'Alessandro, in his platform, pledged himself to support a large public works program, work for a boost in farm income and oppose pay television.

Too Old To Work

Criticizing what he termed discrimination against middle-aged persons in employment, the Baltimore mayor said:

"It is incredible, here in America, that men and women of 45, or 40 or even 35, are being told that they are too old to work when they apply for a job."

Long, in a statement, termed D'Alessandro's being for the little guy "a cruel joke." The Johns Hopkins University professor said:

"The only guy he is for is a 200-pound guy named Thomas D'Alessandro. The mayor is guilty of the heedless use of the unemployment of the little guy to build up his political machine."

Mahoney, Baltimore County contractor, said the $1,200 annual limit on earnings of persons receiving Social Security is "unrealistically low."

He said the limit was set when the dollar was worth much more than it is today and the limitation should be raised or eliminated entirely.

Easter Series Starts Tuesday In Evening Times

Many people not directly concerned with the trial, death and resurrection of Jesus were plunged by accident or circumstances into the events of those memorable days.

In a series called "Easter's Untold Stories" starting tomorrow in the Evening Times, Associated Press Religion Writer George Cornell goes behind the terse words of the Gospels to capture in full dimension the thoughts and actions of four of the little-known actors in the great Easter drama.

John Mark, who was a gospel writer and a youth when Jesus met his death; Claudia, tormented wife of Pilate; Simon of Cyrene, who helped Christ carry the cross; and the nameless Roman sergeant who stood lonely guard over the tomb.

Cornell, author of the recently published "They Knew Jesus" and one of the nation's top writers on religious subjects, consulted dozens of sources while preparing the series.

Fire Pumper Due In City During April

Truck Scheduled To Be Shipped This Week, Keegan Says

The city's new, 1,250-gallon a minute, triple combination pumper fire truck will be delivered here early in April.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said he had been advised by American-LaFrance the new pumper will be shipped from Elmira this week and should be in Cumberland no later than next week.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the new pumper will go to Central Fire Station. Its purpose is to provide a master stream for the downtown area in event of fire. The department does not have such a fire control device at present.

The new truck will cost approximately $25,000. Half will come from this fiscal year's appropriation and half from the next fiscal year.

The truck is of a semi-cab design where the driver sits five or six feet in front of the wheels.

In another Fire Department development today, Keegan was authorized by the Mayor and Council to advertise for bids on a fire alarm control panel for the Fire Department.

Parker explained that the present panel is obsolete, has been in operation here 20 years and was manufactured in 1901. It has been a source of trouble daily.

Under the present setup, if one alarm box goes out of commission the whole system is out of order. A check of all 97 boxes and approximately 40 miles of wiring is necessary.

The new control panel will isolate any trouble spot, the system will remain in operation, save money and provide better fire protection, Parker said.

The control panel will be paid for out of the department's appropriation, Parker said.

Road Mishap Injures Seven, One Critically

Seven persons were injured, one critically, in a head-on collision yesterday on U. S. Route 40 a half-mile east of Frostburg. All were admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg.

In critical condition is Theresa A. Twigg, 18, of Eckhart, who sustained head injuries. Others admitted were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Cross and three-year-old son, Kenneth A. Cross, of New Creek, W. Va., all of whom are reported in "fair" condition; Ann Doris McDonald, 18, of Frostburg; Raymond Miller, RD 3, Meyersdale, Pa., and Charlene LaRue, 15, of Frostburg.

Miss McDonald, driver of one of the cars involved, is in fair condition after suffering severe shock; Miller, also in fair condition, sustained possible internal injuries, and the young LaRue girl, who suffered a possible fractured pelvis, is listed as "poor."

Trooper R. L. Davis of the LaVale detachment of Maryland State Police said the accident occurred about 4 p. m. when the Cross vehicle was struck by the McDonald car near the Parkersburg Road intersection.

The state trooper said the second automobile, occupied by six persons, apparently was traveling west toward Frostburg and crossed the center line of the highway, hitting the West Virginia family's eastbound car, then rolling over and landing on its top in a ditch beside the highway.

In addition to the four injured persons in the car driven by Miss McDonald and owned by Miller, there were two other occupants, both of whom escaped injury. They are Darlene Ann Brode, 18, of 157 Maple Street, Frostburg, and Judy Ann Robertson, 18, of RD 1, Frostburg.

Trooper Davis said no charges have been made pending further investigation of the accident, the second serious traffic collision in Allegany County in four days.

Thursday night on U.S. 220 near Rawlings, William Leroy Lease, 33, Allegany Grove, was killed and a companion, Charles R. Abbott, 24, of RD 5, Cumberland, was seriously injured in a two-truck accident.

Abbott remains in "critical" condition at Sacred Heart Hospital, although attaches said he slightly improved.

Two Properties Deeded To SRC

Deeds for two properties needed in highway improvements in this area were filed today at the Court House.

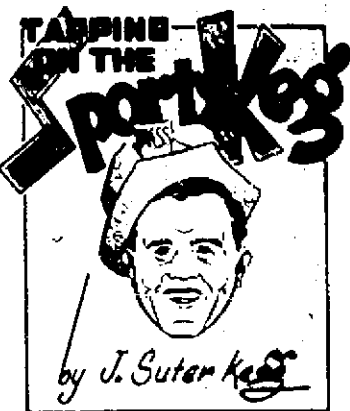

Harley H. Squires and Katie Squires, his wife, deeded a property on Montreal Avenue to the State Roads Commission. It is needed for the Industrial Boulevard project.

A property consisting of .39 of an acre was deeded to the SRC by Hobart E. Redinger and Myrtle S. Redinger, his wife. The tract is located about a mile and a quarter west of Flinston and is needed for the improvement of U. S. Route 40.

president elect of 1959. Back row (same order) are Harry Stein, treasurer; Harry Kauffman, trustee; Allan Hirsch, second vice president; Robert Goldfine, trustee; Frank H. Kaplan, secretary; William B. Schindler, guardian, and George Ossip, trustee. Rabbi Stanley Levin was installed as chaplain. A large crowd attended.

Last Person Barred By Landis Blasts Baseball

Former Phil Owner Cox Rates Sport As 'Rotten'

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — (INS) — Bill Cox, the last person barred from organized baseball by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, broke a 15-year silence today to proclaim his innocence on old charges of gambling on games and to denounce baseball as "rotten."

Cox bought the Phils in March of 1943 from Gerry Nugent and the National League for $250,000 in cash. He had previously owned and operated the New York Yankees professional football team of the long-since-defunct American Football League. In the course of that effort, he persuaded All-America Tommy Harmon and John Kimbrough to join his backfield, no mean feat.

Eight months after buying the Phils, Cox was out of baseball. The charge was that he gambled on the outcome of ball games, but there were so many qualifications that the Landis verdict would have had considerable trouble standing up in a civil court. Cox chose not to take it there. I met the present high priest of baseball, Ford Frick, in Shor's Place the other day and asked to see the Cox file at the commissioner's headquarters.

Records Sealed
"No," Ford said. "These records are sealed. They will never be opened unless there's a suit of some kind."

So this must be Cox's story, which, he says, has never been told before. Here goes:

"I had my choice of four managers after getting the Phils," he said, preferring to take the whole thing chronologically. "They were Lefty O'Doul, Charlie Dressen, Buckey Harris and the present coach at Yale, Ethan Allen. I should have chosen Allen. Ford Frick, who hadn't reached the commissioner's office yet, talked me out of Dressen. O'Doul wasn't hungry. I chose Harris. That was my first mistake."

"The first day I worked in Philadelphia as the new owner was unforgettable. I received six poison-pen letters, all threatening. On the third day there I received a phone call from a prominent Philadelphia attorney. He simply said, 'Come to my office.' I went, accompanied by my lawyer, Charles Grimes."

"The Philadelphia attorney looked me cold-bloodedly in the eye and told me that there was litigation hanging over the club I had just bought. Actually, I had received the written promise of the National League that it indemnified me against all liabilities undisclosed by Nugent. I told this to the attorney, but he was not impressed."

Charges Blackmail
"He said to me, 'I'm not at liberty to reveal these liabilities, but I can fix them if my brother is made president of the Phillies by ten o'clock tomorrow morning.' My lawyer, Charles Grimes, who had worked with Tom Dewey, took charge then. He said, 'If you ever bother this man again — meaning me — I'll personally prosecute you. You and I both know what this is. You're familiar with the word blackmail.' And we walked out."

"The poison-pen letters kept coming," Cox continued. "There were so many threats that I told my wife not to come to Philadelphia to live but to remain in New York with our son, who was then four years old. And so I tried to get things going with the ball club."

"We trained in Hershey, Pa., that war year. Bucky and I made 20 trades, but we wound up without one man who had ever played shortstop. I played short myself the first four days at spring training camp. I also brought in the finest trainer I had ever met, Harold Bruce. Bucky resented him, even though he was able to rejuvenate our star pitcher, Sylvester Johnson, and show Merrill May enough about running to first to increase his batting average 50 points."

"I soon began to see the rottenness of big league baseball. First, I inherited a deal whereby I was to send Nick Ellen, our first baseman, to the Yankees for $10,000 and two players. I had to appeal to Judge Landis half a dozen times to force the Yankees to send me the two players. One of them turned out to be 42 years old. Then I heard that Cincinnati had five shortstops on its roster, and we had none. So I arranged a deal for one of them, supposed to be a first-class prospect. I paid the waiver price of $7,500."

"The kid joined us in Wilmington and we put him right into an exhibition game. He couldn't throw a ball to first base unless on the first or second hop. At the plate he was absolutely hopeless. Bucky and I had a talk with him after the game and we pointed out something that had worried us from the start: that no minor league roster carried his name."

Harris Fired In Midsummer
"Did you ever play shortstop anywhere?" I asked him. He got quite angry. "Of course I did!" he said. "I played for the Hotel New Yorker." Babe Dahlgren (Continued on Page 11)

BIRDS OF A FEATHER—Gus Triandos, heavy-hitting catcher for the Baltimore Orioles, takes times out before exhibition game at Scottsdale, Ariz., to pose with Paul Oberhaus Jr., Young Paul, star pitcher and hitter in the Phoenix Little League, has been serving as Oriole batboy in Arizona. The lad's father, Paul Sr., played center for the old Cumberland Dukes in the All-American Basketball League. Young Paul's mother is the former Miss Violet Jenkins of Frostburg. The Oberhauses operate a restaurant in Phoenix.

Stengel Sees Sox Teams Yanks' Biggest Barriers

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(INS)—Casey Stengel, who has won eight pennants in the last nine years, says the biggest barriers to another New York Yankee flag are the Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox.

Stengel listed the two Sox teams as the top threats to continued Yankee domination in the American League during a gab session yesterday when the Yankee game with St. Louis was rained out.

The Yankee pilot, whose thinking is straight but whose speech wanders, analyzed the coming AL race at great length.

It was the consensus of bemused listeners that Stengel figured the final 1958 standings would look like this—New York, Chicago, Boston, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore, Kansas City and Washington.

"The league ought to be about like it was last year," said the inventor of Stengel's. "The same clubs in the first division and the same ones down below."

Jumble For Second
"It's a jumble for second place with Boston maybe a little better than we all thought. I have to reconsider on them."

Then Stengel looked over his competition from top to bottom. "I see they (the White Sox) can field and run and that manager (Al Lopez) who used to work for me — and I had to sell him to keep my credit in the bank — knows what he's doing."

"They (the White Sox) got pitching big. Good infield, great around second. Their catching is good with (Sherm) Lollar, but they still got to win with pitching. Maybe they can do it."

Stengel obviously was impressed with the Red Sox. "Boston now has the infield with that boy (Don Buddin) back from the war. He can field all over the place. It's going to be hard to hit grounders between him and the third baseman (Frank Malzone)."

Cites Sox's 'Big Boy'
"Add that to their outfield power with the big guy (Ted Williams) nobody can get out and better pitching and there you are."

"Detroit," Stengel continued, "has to find out if those men can play those new positions (meaning Billy Martin at short and Harvey Kuenn in center). Pitching is good anyway, but the infield has got to be some trouble for them."

Stengel hasn't seen Cleveland and Baltimore this spring because both clubs train in Arizona.

"Cleveland got so much fixing up to do," said Casey. "If (Herb) Score and (Bob) Lemon are okay, they'll have pitching. But where's their speed? And they got infield troubles, too. I keep hearing."

Stengel didn't figure Baltimore any better than its 1957 finish in fifth place.

"Both Cleveland and Baltimore got to be rated better than the other two" (Kansas City and Washington) concluded Casey. "What did Stengel have to say about his own team?"

"I know what I got and they're going to be all right as soon as I'm finished knowing what they can do and where."

Gus Thompson, Former Pittsburgh Pitcher, Dies

KALISPELL, Mont. (AP) — John "Gus" Thompson, who pitched for Pittsburgh in the 1903 World Series, died Friday night after an extended illness. He was 80. Thompson, a native of Iowa, left the Pirates after the 1905 season and came to Kalispell, where he operated a pool hall until he retired several years ago. He lost to Cy Young of Boston in his only series appearance. He broke in at Pittsburgh in 1902.

Chances Nil For Roberts Dropping 20

CLEARWATER, Fla.—(INS)—Robin Roberts, who caused more baseballs to be launched into the home run orbit last season than any other pitcher, is hoping to be counted on this year rather than counted down.

And although the former great righthander has blown both hot and cold during his citrus outtings thus far, he's been listed as a starting hurler for the Phillies by manager Mayo Smith.

Up until two years ago when Robbie halted his streak of six years in a row of 20 victories or more, his status as a starter was unquestioned, but such are the fortunes of the game, and everyone — including himself — is still trying to figure what's wrong.

Gives Up 40 Homers

The one-time Springfield Rifle, who posted a 23-7 mark in 1952, was tagged with 22 losses last year against only 10 wins. Moreover, he was slugged for a record of 40 home run balls.

Yet, his control was pinpoint sharp, second in league standings only to the Dodgers' Don Newcombe. In 200 innings, Roberts gave up 43 walks for a control average of 1.55.

Some of his mates say this may be his failing. Batsmen aren't afraid to stand up and take a tooth, because he's never been known to throw a duster.

However, in the past, observers say Robbie was able to put "something extra" on his fast ball that made it hop over for a third strike. Now, it comes across without either hop or speed.

Begins Changing Speeds

There's been the usual talk about developing new pitches, and a more varied delivery, but Roberts insists this isn't the answer. His showings to date, however, reveal he is changing speeds more and is working on a slow extra-breaking curve.

One thing Roberts can count on — his mates and manager. "I think Roberts is in a frame of mind to have a good year," said Smith. "Robbie will get an early season chance to prove himself. But he won't lose 20 games again because we won't give him a chance."

The manager explained he would take Roberts out of rotation if the hurler showed the same penchant for throwing those costly gopher balls.

Roberts definitely won't be used as often as he has in the past, however. His 250 innings last season was tops for the club, and he perennially is the workhorse — a role which some observers say may have caused him to be over the hill at 32.

Birds Ship Burke

Back To Minors

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles have shipped outfielder - infielder Leo Burke to their minor league base at Thomasville, Ga.

Sending out Burke reduced the Birds' training roster to 37, according to Assistant General Manager Jack Dunn. Burke, 23, of Hagerstown, Md., is expected to wind up with Knoxville in the Sally League. He hit only .192 at Knoxville last season but slammed out 14 doubles and 10 homers in 97 games.

An exhibition game brought Baltimore another defeat yesterday as Chicago's hustling Cubs won 2-1 in 11 innings when Ken Lehman walked Dale Long.

Speedway To Open

The Potomac Valley Speedway, which has been in operation the past two years, will open Sunday, May 4. Repairs are being made and additional bleachers erected. Lehman walked Dale Long.

Two Tourney Games Slated At 'Y' Today

Semi-final games in two divisions make up tonight's doubleheader program as the Central YMCA-Jaycee basketball tournament begins its second week of play.

In the lidlifter at 7 o'clock, the Bobcats meet Police Boys Club in a 135-pound class contest. The winner will go against the team victorious tomorrow night in the game between Sanders Gulf and Jimmy's Place. The title contest is set for Thursday.

This evening's nightcap is a junior unlimited battle, pitting Armbruster's Radio against Rendezvous Five at 8:30. To the winner will go the honor of meeting the victor in Wednesday's Lovers' Leap Ezzo-Mason's Snack Bar Thursday night for the championship.

Only two teams, Lovers' Leap Ezzo and St. Peter's of Westernport, were entered in the 115-pound class and they will tangle in the championship game Thursday at 6 p. m.

Survivors in the senior unlimited class are Hafs's, Ridgeley American Legion, Devon Club, Ringler's Mobile Station, Hancock and the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose.

Two games are on tap for today, three tomorrow, three Wednesday and four Thursday. Twenty-seven quints were entered in this year's tourney but only 14 remain after four nights of action last week.

Trotters Thump All-Stars, 75-49

NEW YORK (INS) — The ninth annual tour of the Harlem Globetrotters and the College Basketball All-Stars opened yesterday with the Trotters winning, 75 to 49, before 14,021 at Madison Square Garden.

Andy Johnson, who had 21 points, led the Trotters to a 21-0 lead in the first quarter. Vern Hatten, star guard of Kentucky's NCAA champions, topped all scorers with 22 points. John McCarthy of Notre Dame had 11.

Mountain Top Shooters Win Rifle League

Mountain Top defeated Hercules by a decisive margin, 1137 to 1119, and won the Western Maryland Rifle League championship in a final shootoff match fired yesterday afternoon at Oakland. Alex Harvey again paced his team to victory, collecting 288 markers over the four-position course. Best score for Hercules was 289 turned in by Jim Spitznogle.

Fort Hill won the second division shootoff at Bowman's Addition by stopping LaVale, 1123 to 1112. Leo Leasure and Norm White led the winners with tallies of 285 each. LaVale's high was 280 points by Jess Don. Summary:

STEELERS TO PLAY SIX PITT STADIUM GAMES

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League announce they will play six games of the 12-game 1958 schedule in Pitt Stadium.

The 60,000-seat stadium is available to the Steelers for the first time under an agreement with the University of Pittsburgh and the Public Auditorium Authority. For years the Steelers had played in 35,000-seat Forbes Field, home of the baseball Pirates.

The club also said the starting time of home games will be moved up from 2 p. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Swedish Ruling Body Nixes Boxing Support

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The lower house of the Swedish Parliament voted to withdraw all government support of boxing because the sport is "a gross denial of everything implied by culture and human dignity."

The government in recent years annually votes 10,000,000 crowns—two million dollars—for the support of various sports. If the upper house agrees, boxing would lose its share which comes to 20,000 crowns—$4,000.

Terp Baseball Team To Play Indians Today

By The Associated Press
Seven Atlantic Coast Conference baseball teams scheduled action today—barring the wet weather which has plagued the young season so far.
The conference's four North Carolina members—Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State and Wake Forest—faced non-league foes in the first round of the three-day Dixie Baseball Classic.
South Carolina was host to Michigan State, Maryland entered Dartmouth and Clemson traveled to The Citadel, all for non-conference games.
Virginia had an earlier scheduled rainout and isn't slated for action again until Wednesday when the Cavaliers entertain Harvard.
Duke defeated South Carolina 3-2 Saturday in the only conference game so far this season. In other Saturday games, ACC teams captured victories from non-conference foes, North Carolina defeating Ithaca 2-1 and Wake Forest stopping Delaware 5-1.
Senior rightlander Ben Tench got credit for Wake Forest's victory, but had to call on help from Jimmy Harrell after leading the bases in the ninth. Tench united Delaware to five hits, and struck out nine.
This week's schedule:
Today—Clemson at The Citadel, Michigan State at South Carolina, Dartmouth at Maryland, Dixie Classic: Massachusetts at Wake Forest, Lafayette at N. C. State, Connecticut at Duke, Princeton at North Carolina.
Tuesday—Maine at Maryland, four Dixie Classic games at Winston-Salem.
Wednesday—Harvard at Virginia, The Citadel at Clemson, four Dixie Classic games at Winston-Salem.
Thursday—Massachusetts at Duke, Michigan State at Clemson.
Friday—Maryland at South Carolina, Virginia at Clemson and Wake Forest at Parris Island Marines (exhibition).
Saturday—Virginia at South Carolina, Maryland at Clemson, Ohio at Duke, Wake Forest at Parris Island Marines (exhibition).

Second Men's Rec Game Tomorrow

Second game in the best-of-three series between Carolan's Tavern and Hafer House for the championship of the Men's Rec League will be played tomorrow, 8 p.m. at Carver gym.
Carolan's can clinch the championship with a victory tomorrow, the Tavern losers having won the first game in a thriller.
Gene Mason, city rec director, said today that the third game, if necessary, will be played Thursday night on the same floor.

West Virginia Nine To Open Season Today

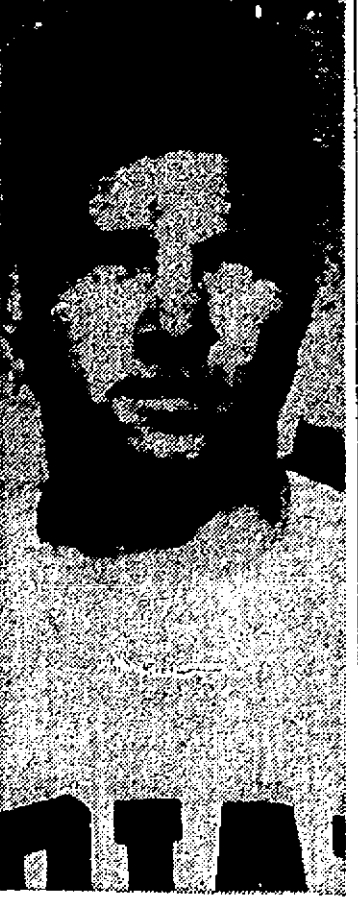

By The Associated Press
A couple of three-game winning streaks go on the line this afternoon as Southern Conference baseball teams inaugurate a week's schedule that lists 22 games—six of which will match conference foes.
Today's feature attraction is at Davidson, where Coach Tom Stevens' surprising Wildcats—3-0 for the season and 2-0 in the league—risk their shaky conference lead in a twin bill against untested William & Mary.
The Citadel's Bulldogs, who lost their first two games but won three in a row last week, entertain Clemson in a non-conference affair.
George Washington's defending conference champions, rained out of their scheduled opener last Wednesday, debut at home against Dartmouth tomorrow. Simultaneously, West Virginia, regarded as GW's principal challenger, makes its season's bow at Morgantown against West Virginia Wesleyan. Richmond, a perennial title contender, opens up its home field in a game with Harvard on Thursday.
Besides today's Davidson-W&M doubleheader, intra-conference skirmishes during the week send W&M to Furman for two games tomorrow and The Citadel to Virginia Tech for single games Friday and Saturday.
Thus far, only two conference games have been played. Both these were last Saturday, when Davidson clipped Washington & Lee 5-4 and 4-1 to move into an early lead in the championship race.
This week's complete conference schedule:
Today—William & Mary at Davidson (2); Clemson at The Citadel; Washington & Lee vs. Parris Island in Parris Island Marines Tournament.
Tuesday—William & Mary at Furman (2); Dartmouth at George Washington; West Virginia Wesleyan at West Virginia; Washington & Lee vs. St. John's (Bkn.); Parris Island Marines Tournament.
Wednesday—Ohio U. at Virginia Tech; The Citadel at Clemson; Washington & Lee vs. Cornell in Parris Island Marines Tournament.
Thursday—Harvard at Richmond; Washington & Lee in Parris Island Marines Tournament (opponent to be determined); Furman at Erskine; Ohio U. at Davidson; West Virginia at Georgia Teachers.
Friday—The Citadel at Virginia Tech; Harvard at Richmond; Syracuse at George Washington; West Virginia vs. Wisconsin in Florida State Tournament at Tallahassee, Fla.
Saturday—The Citadel at Virginia Tech; Lafayette at George Washington; West Virginia vs. Florida State in Florida State Tournament.
Bolling Boys Now With Same Team
LAKELAND, Fla. (INS)—The Detroit Tigers have traded minor leaguer Pete Wojey and a reported $20,000 for Cleveland infielder Milt Bolling and pitcher Vito Valentini.
Tiger general manager John McHale said in announcing the trade yesterday that Bolling would be used "strictly as a utility man" while Valentini would perform relief chores.
Bolling, 28, who batted .227 for Boston and Washington last season, joins his younger brother, Frank, Detroit's second baseman. Valentini, a 29-year-old right-hander, was 0-0 with the Chicago Cubs last year before he posted a 9-5 record with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League and ended the season with two victories and two losses at Cleveland.
Wojey, a 34-year-old right-hander who has been in the Tiger system for nine years, had an 8 and 11 mark with the Charleston club of the American Association last year.

Wertz Injury Adds To Woe Of Cleveland

TUCSON, Ariz. (U)—A fractured ankle today had injury-plagued Vic Wertz back in the hospital and the ill-starred Cleveland Indians once again behind the eight ball.
Wertz, who overcame a 1955 attack of polio and last week became Cleveland's first field captain in nearly 20 years, suffered a broken right ankle yesterday sliding into second base against San Francisco. He'll be out of action for at least nine weeks.
"I think it's broken," was all the 205-pound first baseman said before rolling over on his face in pain.
Cleats Catch In Dirt
His cleats had caught in the dirt as he slid in all-out effort to break up a double play. The fresh six-inch scar on the ground showed the cleats had gone beneath the dry top soil and stopped abruptly.
Last season, Cleveland finished sixth in the American League after Herb Score was hit in the face with a batted ball and sidelined for nearly the entire season and Bob Lemon came down with elbow trouble.
A glum Bobby Bragan, in his first year as Cleveland manager, was counting on Wertz as a power hitter and a take-charge guy. "Why did it have to happen," Bragan asked.
Batted In 195 Runs
Wertz knocked in 103 runs for Cleveland last year, second in the American League only to Roy Sievers of Washington who had 114. Vic batted .282 and collected 28 home runs.
In the third inning of yesterday's game, Wertz was given an intentional walk to put runners on first and second. Third baseman Fred Hatfield then hit weakly to second baseman Daryl Spencer who flipped to shortstop Andre Rodgers for the force. Wertz slid, successfully breaking up the double play attempt but he never reached the base.
Out Nine To Ten Weeks
He was carried from the field on a stretcher. A few hours later, X-rays showed the broken fibula at the ankle.
Dr. W. R. Manning, who works with the team while it trains here, said Wertz will be lost at least nine to ten weeks.
As Dr. Manning treated his broken ankle, the jovial dutchman quipped: "I guess I'll really have to work to get my 100 RBIs this year."
Loss of the standout infielder leaves Bragan with further troubles as he prepares for the American League race. He has 39-year-old Mickey Vernon, who took over for Wertz yesterday, plus Preston Ward and Joe Altobelli, both yet to be proved.

Welterweights Clash Tonight At St. Nick's

NEW YORK (INS)—Jimmy Peters of Washington, D.C., meets New York's Rudy Sawyer tonight in a nationally televised (Dumont) 10-round welterweight bout at St. Nicholas arena.
Jenkins Named Coach At Montana State
MISSOULA, Mont. (U)—Ray Jenkins, end coach at Colorado, was named head football coach at Montana State.
Jenkins, 37, replaces Jerry Williams, who resigned in February to become an assistant coach for the professional Philadelphia Eagles. Jenkins will arrive in Missoula about April 4 to organize spring practice.

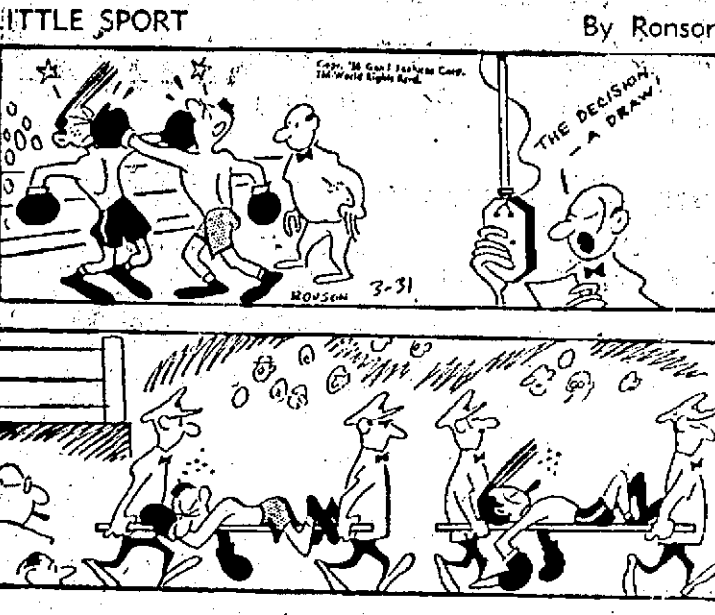

INJURED—Cleveland's first baseman, captain Vic Wertz, sustained a fractured ankle yesterday sliding into second base in exhibition game with San Francisco at Tucson, Ariz. (AP Photofax)

Golfers Begin Gathering For Masters Play

AUGUSTA, Ga. (U)—Golf's no-mads began assembling today for the 22nd Masters Tournament and they seemed to share one topic of conversation—the weather.
"If we have much more of this rain this course will be a back-breaker," said Jack Burke Jr., 1956 winner. "It's long and tough normally. Yesterday I wore myself out trying to reach the par 4 greens in two."
Byron Nelson, who has played in 20 of the 21 Masters, commented: "I don't remember when the course has played longer."
An all-day rain drenched the Augusta National layout, President Eisenhower's favorite links. More rain was forecast today. The tournament starts Thursday.
The course measures 6,980 yards and has a par of 36-36-72.
Because of its tremendous length, Augusta may prove too much of a heavyweight for the two spectacular visitors from the Orient, Torakichi (Pete) Nakamura and Koichi Ono, who won the Canada Cup for Japan last October in Tokyo.
These two Japanese have excited the imagination of those pros who were unable to see them walk Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret by nine shots in the Tokyo tournament which drew leading professionals from 29 nations.
Nakamura and Ono barely were beaten by Snead and Demaret in an exhibition Saturday on Snead's home course at Boca Raton, Fla.
The Americans won by two strokes with a score of 140 on 69 by Snead and a 71 by Demaret. Nakamura, who sank three putts of more than 30 feet, had a 70 and Ono shot a 72.

Canadiens Again Defeat Rangers

By International News Service
Give the Montreal Canadiens a break—even a seemingly bad one—and they'll take advantage of it.
The flying Frenchmen trailed Detroit midway through the second period last night when goalie Jacques Plante was clipped by the stick of Bob Bailey and knocked cold.
The Vezina Trophy winner retired to the dressing room for 30 minutes of repairs, following which Bailey was asked to spend several more in the penalty box.
With the Red Wings a man short, Dickie Moore took a pass from Jean Beliveau and knotted the score. And in the twelfth minute of sudden-death overtime play Andre Pronovost soloed in and rallied to give the Canadiens a 2-to-1 win and their third straight victory in the Stanley Cup playoff semi-finals.
The defending champions can move into the finals and a shot at their third consecutive Stanley Cup by defeating the Wings Tuesday night in Detroit.
In the other semi-final round, New York plays at Boston Tuesday. The Bruins lead the best-of-seven series, 2-1.
Promised Land Has 'Birthday'
BOWIE, Md. (U)—Today was the birthday of four horses at the barns of trainer Hirsch Jacobs, one of them a weekend winner of the John B. Campbell Memorial Handicap.
Stymie, his son, Paper Tiger, Palestinian, and his son, Promised Land, all were born on March 31. Promised Land made it a double celebration by winning $72,645 for the party in Sturday's mile and a sixteenth Campbell.
The grey colt won by two lengths over Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Find and favored Iron Leige, 1957 Kentucky Derby winner, finished next to last in the seven-horse field. Promised Land paid $7.60, $3.80 and $5.20.

Braves Acquire Lefthander Dick Littlefield From Cubs

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, prevented by spring rains from seasoning young southpaw pitchers, have acquired lefthander Dick Littlefield from the Chicago Cubs.
The club, announcing the purchase last night, said it was a cash deal. No price was mentioned.
The 32-year-old Littlefield was told to report today to the Braves, who were scheduled to meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition at Fort Myers.
ORLANDO, Fla. (U)—Reserve outfielders Marty Keough and Gene Stephens of the Boston Red Sox are the team's spring hitting stars—a fact which may prove very important.
With outfield regulars Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen bothered by injuries, Manager Mike Higgins couldn't find a pair he would rather see prosper than Keough and Stephens.
Keough is batting .389, Stephens .349 and Dick Gernert, first base candidate who also plays the outfield, has a .364 mark.
LAKELAND, Fla. (U)—The Detroit Tigers face the pruning knife this week.
Manager Jack Tighe, now operating with a squad of 33 men, plans to reduce it by five before the club starts north. He will cut off three of his 14 pitchers and one each of his four catchers and seven outfielders.
TAMPA, Fla. (U)—The Chicago White Sox today announced the sending of Barry Latman to Indianapolis in the American Assn.
The 21-year-old rightlander was told by Manager Al Lopez to be ready if the White Sox needed him.
"You've got to pitch," said Lopez, "and you won't get much work around here. Do well at Indianapolis and you'll be back with us again."
Latman, with a 13-13 record at Indianapolis last season was trying to win a starting berth with the Sox this season.

Palmer, Johnson In Azalea Playoff

WILMINGTON, N.C. (U)—A history-making playoff was scheduled today when Arnold Palmer met Howie Johnson to determine the $2,000 first prize winner in the $15,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament.
They shot closing 68s yesterday for 282 totals, four shots ahead of their nearest rival, Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif.
This is the 10th year of the tournament and no player has ever successfully retained his title or, for that matter, even won it any two years. In addition, today's playoff is the first tournament has had, despite many close finishes. Palmer won here last year and at St. Petersburg, Fla., last week.
Johnson had rounds of 74-68-72-68 and Palmer had scores of 66-73-75-68 in leading the field with the highest 72-hole total of the 13-tournament winter season.

Bob Feller To Pitch In Batting Practice

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (U)—Bob Feller will be back in uniform pitching this year—pitching batting practice, that is.
The one-time Cleveland Indians strikeout king, whose big pitch this year will be via radio as a network baseball announcer, decided that pitching batting practice would be a good way to stay fit.
Feller said he hopes to pitch batting practice "at about half of the 140 games I'll be working."

Celtics Win, Knot Series

BOSTON, (U)—It looks like last year all over again in the National Basketball Assn. playoff finals as defending champion Boston and St. Louis move westward locked in a 1-1 tie.
The Celtics outclassed the Hawks 136-112 Sunday and deadlocked the best-of-seven final series. Boston had done the same thing 12 months ago in the second contest with a 20-point, 119-99 decision.
In the Saturday opener before a nationwide television audience, St. Louis eked out a 104-102 decision. A year ago the margin was the same for the Hawks, 125-123, in overtime.
Boston finally won last year's finals in the seventh and last game going two hectic overtime periods for the 125-123 victory.
The teams swing to St. Louis for the third game Wednesday night and if this is a repeat of the 1956-57 series the Hawks are due to win. St. Louis captured game No. 3 a year ago 100-98.
While the Celtics showed great all-around class Sunday the guy who thrilled the Boston Garden crowd was Sam Jones. The rookie from North Carolina College who hadn't even played in the opener, scored 16 points, scrambled for rebounds and defended the Hawks silly.
Boston's top scorers were Bob Cousy with 25, Bill Sharman and Bill Russell with 22 each and Frank Ramsey with 20.
The Hawk's Cliff Hagan topped all scorers with 37 points.

Churches In Area Announce Annual Holy Week Services

James New Commander Coney VFW

FROSTBURG — Holy Week services began yesterday at St. Michael's Catholic Church with the blessing and distribution of palm.

Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, pastor, said the following schedule will be in effect for the coming week:

Confessions will be heard after the 6:30 and 8 a. m. masses tomorrow and Wednesday. Confessions for children will be heard at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow and from 5 to 6 and 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. for adults.

Confessions will also be heard Wednesday at 11 a. m. and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 8:30 p. m.; on Thursday from 4 to 6 p. m. and after services in the evening, and on Good Friday from 11 a. m. to noon. No confessions will be heard Saturday.

On Holy Thursday morning a low mass will be celebrated for children and persons unable to attend the principal mass that day, which will be at 7:30 p. m. The mass will be followed by a procession and reposition of the blessed sacrament. Communion will be distributed at both morning and evening masses. Adoration of the Most Blessed Sacrament will be held until midnight.

The church will reopen on Good Friday at 9 a. m. for adoration, and at 2 p. m., veneration of the cross, reading of the sacred passion and holy communion will be observed. Stations of the cross will take place at 7:30 p. m.

At 11 p. m. Holy Saturday, services including blessings of the paschal candle, new fire, holy water, etc., will be followed by high mass at midnight. The new eucharistic fast rules will apply to all who receive communion at midnight mass.

Communion will be brought to the sick of the parish on Holy Thursday afternoon. Names of those confined to their homes are to be sent to the rectory.

The offering at services on Good Friday will be for the holy places in Palestine.

Masses on Easter Sunday will be at 7, 8, 9 and 10:15 a. m. Benediction will follow the last mass. There will be no evening services Easter Sunday.

LONACONING — Rev. William E. McGraw, vicar of Emmanuel Church, Keyser, W. Va., will be the preacher at the final Lenten service Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Episcopal Church here.

After the communion service Wednesday at 9:30 a. m., the Sacrament of Healing will be administered. Choir rehearsal will be held at 6:15 p. m.

Maundy Thursday will be celebrated with Holy Communion at 6:15 p. m. and the Watch before the Blessed Sacrament will be held beginning at 7 p. m. for half-hour duration. A covered dish supper will be held at 7 p. m. in the parish hall.

Good Friday will be observed from noon to 3 p. m. with preaching of the Passion of our Lord Jesus Christ. At 7:30 p. m. there will be a Good Friday service. Offerings at the Good Friday services will be sent to the Bishop of Jerusalem for work in the Holy Land.

The lighting of the paschal candle will take place on Easter eve and will burn until Ascension Day. Rev. Leslie E. Schwindl, vicar, will be in the church from 4:30 to 5:30 and from 6 to 7 p. m. Saturday for confession or counseling.

Confirmation class for adults will begin Thursday, April 10, at 7:30 p. m. Children, 11 years old or in the fifth grade, will begin their class on Sunday, April 13, at 4 p. m.

LONACONING — Holy Week services will be held here daily at 7:30 p. m. Tonight at the Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Rev. J. J. Wetly will be the speaker.

Rev. C. H. Goshorn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will be speaker at the First Methodist Church, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Paul Poland, pastor, will be the speaker at the Pentecostal Holiness Church on Wednesday evening.

Rev. Carl Price, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will be speaker at the First Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening and communion will be distributed at this service.

Good Friday services will be held beginning at noon and continuing to 3 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church with all preachers of the Lonaconing Ministerium taking part as speakers.

Easter Sunday masses will be held at 7 a. m. and 9:30 a. m.

KEYSER — Music during the Easter season at Keyser Presbyterian Church will include "The Palms," sung by Perry Green, under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Church, will also sing "Jerusalem," with Mrs. Christine McNeill as soloist.

Easter Sunday, the choir will sing "The Holy City." New members will be received and the Sacrament of Baptism will be administered.

Broom Sale Planned

ROMNEY — The Romney Lions Club will conduct a broom sale Thursday evening in Romney and the outlying area, the proceeds of which will go towards the club's sight conservation fund.

LONACONING — Melvin James was elected commander of Alvin C. Neat Post 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last Thursday evening at the VFW Home.

Onas D. Hanekamp was named senior vice commander; Joseph Albert Rowan, junior vice commander; John Bradburn, quartermaster; Calvin James, judge advocate; Oliver Murphy, surgeon; Harry Stafford, chaplain and Lorraine Thrasher, trustee for three years.

The VFW will sponsor an Easter Lily sale Saturday with T. A. Park as chairman, assisted by the 4-H girls of the community.

An Easter party will be sponsored Monday, April 7, at the VFW Home for the children with movies and refreshments provided.

Brief Mention

Miss Agne Perry Chappell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chappell, has a leading role in an operetta at St. Mary's Seminary College, St. Mary's. The operetta will also be presented at Western Maryland College early in the spring.

Explorers Troop 26, Boy Scouts of America, will hold an auction sale to obtain funds for their troop activities. Collection of articles will be made Friday, April 11.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dye and Mrs. James Dye Sr. returned to their home in Akron after attending the funeral of Simeon Duckworth.

Program On 4-H Marks Meeting By Homemakers

ELLERSLIE — The Homemakers Club met recently with the president, Mrs. Pearl See, presiding. Miss Lillian Cook read the history of the hymn of the month, "When I Survey The Wondrous Cross" and the group sang the hymn. The group, led by Mrs. Anna Lee Stair, read in unison "The Risen Christ," and sang "Christ Arose." Mrs. Marjorie Ruth Myers read the prayer. Roll call was answered with members saying what they have contributed to the 4-H Club in their community.

The 4-H Club members were in charge of the program with Shirley Edwards announcing. Girls repeated the pledge. Carolyn Miller and Donna Murphy showed things they had knitted. Sherill Sheavly and Marianne Simpkins presented skirts they had made. Patty Nixon made an apron and Linda Porter had knitted a pocket book which they presented to the club. The group sang "America." Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lydia Porter, Hazel Griffey, Virginia Lybarger, Alvonia Johnson and Rheta Murphy.

Following the program, a business meeting was held. Minutes were read and the treasurer's report was given. Announcement was made about the cancer film to be shown in Cumberland on April 9. A committee was appointed including Mrs. Mae Beal, Mrs. Mildred Stahlman and Miss Lillian Cook to make amendments to the by-law. Mrs. Ruth Myers was appointed to help serve on the Christmas community project. Motion was made to take Easter eggs and bananas to the County Infirmary. Twenty-five members and eight 4-H members and their leader, Mrs. Ethel Kendall, were present.

Plans were formulated for improving the school health room, and for establishing a teachers' room. PTA committees will work in conjunction with faculty members on these projects.

The PTA will conduct candy sales at the evening performances of the school operetta, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," today and tomorrow. Mrs. Robinson's room won the attendance prize.

Second Graders To Present Beall Easter Program

FROSTBURG — The Easter program at Beall Elementary School will be presented by the second grade tomorrow at 1:45 p. m.

The program will open with the Easter parade, followed by a dramatization, "How Spring Came," presented by all the children in Mrs. Ursula Baumann's room. Gary Donius will be Mr. Rabbit; Sylvia White, Mrs. Rabbit; Linda Whitefield, The Wise Old Rabbit; William Carder, Mr. Robin; Matthew Skidmore, Mr. Turtle; Sharon Chaney and Suzanne Ritchie, the Squirrel sisters.

Miss Athalia Everline's room will present an original play, "Bunny Paints the Eggs." The following are the characters: Jeanne Hitchens, bunny; Franklin Cook, Johnny; Veronica Wilson, hen; Cathy McCurdy, fawn; Michael Griffith, dog; Jack Green, cat; Karl Hartig, chipmunk; Eugene Folk, squirrel; Valerie Rephann, robin; Bobbie Sharp, mother; William Griffith, father. Marlene Drew is the story teller.

There will be poems, songs and dances appropriate to the Easter season. Parents and friends may attend.

Uniform Rank Unit To Meet Tomorrow

FROSTBURG — The Uniform Rank Auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Sires, Spring Street, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Clerk Walbert will preside. Refreshments will be served.

SCENE FROM OPERETTA—Students at Hill Street School, Frostburg, are shown portraying a scene from an operetta, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," which was written and directed by the faculty of the school. A matinee performance was presented this morning, and will be repeated tomorrow at 1:15 p. m. Performances will also be presented today and tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. The seven dwarfs are shown around the body of Snow White, portrayed by Henrietta Johnson, as they mourn her death. The dwarfs, left to right, are Michael Wade, James Pinto, William Fuller, Michael Diehl, Daniel Lemmert, John Knieriem and Gary Mallow. Forest animals in the background, left to right, are Lawrence Cosgrove, Robert Williams, William Purdue, Warren Pratt and Gary Hoban. Looking on is the "wicked witch," portrayed by Sue Knieriem.

State Racing Rules Change Begins Today

CHARLESTON — A complete revision of the rules of the State Racing Commission went into effect today. The revision was meant to simplify and clarify existing procedure.

The changes reflected recommendations of a committee on uniform rules and procedures set up last year by the National Assn. of State Racing Commission.

One change removed a requirement whereby any trainer who gives medication to a horse 48 hours or less before it runs has to report his action to the track steward.

Malcolm J. Lowe of Parkersburg, one of the three commissioners, explained that it had proved difficult to establish just when such medication was administered. He said the commission has sufficient authority under other rules to handle situations dealing with stimulants.

Play Features PTA Meeting

FROSTBURG — The program at a recent meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Hill Street School was presented by the Parent-Child Study Group of the organization.

A play, "The Ins and Outs," was presented by Mrs. Edward Carder, Mrs. George Hochard, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. George Buckalew and Mrs. Charles Fisher.

Mrs. Irene McKenzie, chairman of the Parent-Child Study Group, presented Mrs. William Vogtman a gift on behalf of the group in appreciation for her work as leader.

Plans were formulated for improving the school health room, and for establishing a teachers' room. PTA committees will work in conjunction with faculty members on these projects.

The PTA will conduct candy sales at the evening performances of the school operetta, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," today and tomorrow. Mrs. Robinson's room won the attendance prize.

Firemen Hose Streets Clean

KEYSER — The Keyser Fire Department personnel began "cleaning up" in the downtown area late Sunday afternoon, using fire hose and sweeping the dirt and mud that has accumulated since the big snows this winter.

Firemen made the offer to clean the streets in the business district and solicited local business men and others for funds.

Since the big snow, the streets have been covered with mud and waste and as the city has no funds for this purpose the firemen took it upon themselves to carry on until the streets are clean again.

School Sponsoring Spaghetti Supper

ELLERSLIE — Ellerslie School will hold a spaghetti supper from 5 to 6:30 p. m. tomorrow at the school.

Fort Bedford Bicentennial Slated To Begin August 22

BEDFORD — Plans for the county-wide observance of Fort Bedford's Bicentennial, which will open with a 10-day celebration August 22 through September 1, were outlined at a public meeting at the Fort Bedford Inn a recent evening.

Judge Richard C. Snyder, general chairman for the event, presided at the meeting.

"Our great historical traditions," he said, "give Bedford County an opportunity which is not accorded to all communities. We want to present an outstanding program, one which will be significant and which will remain long in the memories of our people as the famous Old Home Week 50 years ago."

He announced that Rep. Stanley G. Siroop had accepted the post of active chairman of the celebration.

Divisional chairmen who have been named follow:

Revenue Division — R. Richard Eichelberger.

Participation Division — Bedford Volunteer Firemen will spearhead the important work of this division, calling on other groups for cooperation and assistance. A committee headed by Thomas Reiley is beginning the work of coordinating these activities, which include the Kangaroo Court, "Brothers of the Brush," promenade and caravan, etc.

Spectacle Division — Franklin Smith, chairman; with members of the Bedford Village Players and other dramatic groups serving on the many committees which will undertake the presentation of a large pageant during the celebration.

The John B. Rogers Producing Company has been signed to direct the pageant, and its representative, Wallace Lafferty, described to the group the manifold activities involved in planning the celebration.

Within the next several weeks other committees will be announced covering a wide range of events in connection with the Bicentennial.

The Sep. Hospitality Division will be headed by Edmund L. Flynn, who will announce shortly plans for activities in connection with his committee.

Publicity will be headed by Hugh K. Frear, who will soon announce committee assignments. The Special Events Division will be headed by M. Lee Cohn, who also will announce committees for merchants promotion, window displays, parades, music and other special events.

He also announced that J. William Van Horn has agreed to serve as chairman of the Special Days Committee, and will request cooperation from many groups in

PSC To Hear Water Rates Hike Request

CHARLESTON — A hearing on a rate increase request by the Switzer Water Co. came up today before the Public Service Commission.

The company, which serves Switzer and vicinity in Logan County sought approval of new rates designed to bring in an additional $3,426 a year.

Switzer notified the PSC that it has operated at "a substantial loss" the past three years.

The proposed monthly scale of meter rates ranged in five steps from $1.50 per 1,000 for the first 2,000 gallons down to 50 cents per 1,000 for all over 25,000 gallons. The minimum monthly charge sought was $3.

This is in the form of non-interest-bearing loans, which will be repaid at the conclusion of the event.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your horoscope is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, April 1, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — A better day than may seem. If you look for the better things, the better means and the better attitude, you will do better. Your smart management could whip up some extra change for you.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Do not forget the quiet gains we can and should build every day, which in the end make up the persons we become. Be able to take advantage of the good available, or to waste time and talent.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — No day to dally in your department, either. Realist being attracted by unwise schemes or persons not presenting things as they truly are. Over-quickness, sudden moves are taboo.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — The beginning of a month has usually propitious planetary rays. Yours is especially well aspected. Don't give one minute to time-consuming regrets or pessimism. Start and continue strong.

JULY 22 to AUG. 21 (Leo) — Where you find non-cooperation and dissension, work to bring about unity and sufficient amicableness to permit true progress. Dissenters are always ready for a wind.

AUG. 22 to SEPT. 21 (Virgo) — Your natural eagerness and receptive capacities must be put to purely logical use. Work to bring about unity and sufficient amicableness to permit true progress. Dissenters are always ready for a wind.

SEPT. 22 to OCT. 21 (Libra) — Much will depend upon the disposition and attitude you place upon right things. Actually your Venus aspect is very favorable, but the day requires greater co-operation.

OCT. 22 to NOV. 21 (Scorpio) — Do not permit others to cause you to delay in doing what you should do. Your right activities and affairs. At lot time carefully at day's start; hold to your schedule.

NOV. 22 to DEC. 21 (Sagittarius) — By working up to a brisk tempo gradually, and attending properly to all necessary details along the way, you will be effectively handling what could be an unruly period. Think!

DEC. 22 to JAN. 21 (Capricorn) — Saturn's advantageous position urges action if deliberation and reasoning go before and direct your course. Among highly favored: solving the mysterious development of originality.

JAN. 22 to FEB. 19 (Aquarius) — And "your" planetary aspect says work up to do what you should do. Your right activities and affairs. At lot time carefully at day's start; hold to your schedule.

FEB. 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Neptune now especially favors things to do with paints, oils, water, and liquids; inspirational matters; receptive perception; confidential and scientific matters. Forward!

YOU BORN TODAY being to sign particularly known for sturdy independence, ability to face odds and hurdle, great obstacles, to remain cheerful, ambitious and help others keep pace with worthwhile progress. All this, of course, if living true to your God-given traits and curbing faults. If careful not to be rash in romance you can be notably successful. Can develop to high degree wit, endurance, strength and adaptability. You like to lead, lead in activities demanding fearlessness. Don't dissipate good health; play and depend upon those players. Birthdays: Mr. William Harvey, English physician; discoverer of blood circulation.

End Play Can Win For South

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Hard luck Joe ruffed the third diamond lead and noted casually that East discarded a spade. Joe took two rounds of trumps, cashed his ace of clubs and led a second club toward dummy. West played the queen, Joe played the king, ruffed the last diamond, and then led his last club. East grabbed the jack and led a spade and Joe was down one trick.

"Nice play," said Joe. "I hoped you would hold both the queen and jack for your double in which case the elimination play was sure to work."

"Chucked again," muttered North. "You had a sure thing play all the time."

North was right. The sure thing was an end play against West. Joe should simply run out all his trumps and discard a spade from dummy. West would have to make four discards. One diamond and two spades would be automatic. The other discard would either be a club or a third spade.

Should West discard three spades Joe would simply drop his king with the ace. Should West discard two spades and a club, Joe would take the ace and king of clubs and lead dummy's fourth diamond, whereupon West would have to lead a spade to Joe.

This line of play would collapse if East showed up with the king of spades but that was most unlikely. West had doubled and East had stayed out of the bidding.

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1♠ 1♥ Double 1♠ Pass Pass ? You, South, hold: ♠A 2 ♥K J 7 6 ♦5 2 ♣Q J 6 3 What do you do?

A—Six or so—trump. You have 11 points, including the ace of spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding continues with two spades by West and double by North. East passes. What do you do now?
